Trudeau Talks To Nixon on Sentinel Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, still fighting to convince Congress of the need for a missile defense system, faced pointed questions on the matter today from one of the United States' closest allies—Canada.

Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who is making his first official visit to Washington, has confronted the same sort of critical debate in Parliament that has plagued Nixon over the proposed anti-ballistic missile — ABM — program.

In addition to the ABM discussions the two days of talks are expected to involve Canada's role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and other matters of continental defense.

Trudeau, who reportedly left Ottawa undecided about the ABM situation, was urged earlier in the week by some members of Parliament to try to persuade Nixon from positioning missile defense sites near the Canadian border.

While refusing to do so, Trudeau said, however that "we do not have all the information" on the ABM system to convince him such defenses are necessary.

Israelis Duel Egyptians Across Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egyptian and Israeli guns blazed away across the Suez Canal today after one of the leading Arab guerrilla organizations reported large movements of Israeli troops into the Sinai Desert.

The firing continued through one U.N. call for a cease-fire at 10 a.m. U.N. observers called for another cease-fire at noon, when the Israelis said they stopped shooting. But Israeli army spokesmen said the Egyptians continued firing in several sectors until 12:30 p.m.

Each army accused the other of firing first. They agreed it began at the southern end of the canal then spread north, all the way to El Qantara at the northern end of the Suez Canal.

Israel said it suffered no casualties or damage. The Israeli army said U.N. observers arranged a cease-fire. But the Egyptians continued firing and the Israelis resumed their barrage after half an hour, Tel Aviv said.

Radio Cairo said the Israelis refused to heed the U.N. cease-fire appeal and instead extended their fire northward.

It was the first artillery duel along the canal in six days. Sporadic fighting has been going on across the 103-mile water way for a month. Six Israelis and the Egyptian army chief of staff have been killed and 25 Israelis wounded.

Two recent lulls lasting several days were attributed to sandstorms in the area.

An Israeli army spokesman scoffed today at the report of Israeli troop movements into Sinai made by the Al Fatah guerrilla organization. "We regard all Fatah claims as largely imaginary," he said.

Egypt in recent weeks has been reporting Israeli buildups along the canal as justification for artillery attacks the Egyptians have made across the waterway.

At Fatah said Israel appeared to be moving almost all its forces on the Jordanian front to the Sinai in what appeared to be "more than just another exercise."

In Jerusalem, an Israeli military court imposed a life sentence on a 17-year-old Arab youth convicted of throwing a hand grenade that wounded 45 praying Jews in Hebron last Oct. 9. The grenade was hurled into the cave of Machpelah, which is said to house the tomb of Abraham and is sacred to both Jews and Muslims.

In Gaza City, two Bedouins were sentenced to 10 years imprisonment for smuggling arms from the Sinai Desert into Jordan.

Informants in Beirut reported the Soviet Union has expressed concern about the power struggle between factions of Syria's ruling Baath party.

HOPE TO PROTECT NORTHERN FRONT

Marines Counter Red Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — More than 3,000 U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen backed by an American armored column are pushing another major counter offensive south of the demilitarized zone.

Operation Maine Crag is aimed at a growing North Vietnamese threat to allied bases along the northern frontier, Marine officers at Da Nang said in the past month patrols have sighted as many as 50 enemy tracked vehicles and trucks carrying war materials toward allied bases. Some were believed to be big artillery guns.

It was the second big American drive announced in the past two days and the third within a week, as the Viet Cong's spring offensive rolled into its fifth week.

Maine Crag was launched March 15 but has been slowed down frequently by bad weather. The U.S. Command did not announce it until today for security reasons.

The Marines said the allied force had killed 43 enemy troops so far and captured two prisoners and 129 rifles. Ten Americans were reported killed and 64 wounded. But the allies' main purpose is to cut North Vietnamese supply lines from Laos into South Vietnam.

Maine Crag is taking place along the Laotian border, about 25 miles south of the western flank of the DMZ and just south of the old Khe Sanh combat base, where U.S. forces held off a North Vietnamese siege for 2½ months last year.

One of the Marines' objective is to cut Highway 926 from Laos into South Vietnam. U.S. patrols have sighted North Vietnamese self-propelled artillery guns along the highway, which leads toward the Marines' Vandegrift combat base, the major allied operations base on the northern frontier.

Field commanders think these big guns could be used to turn Vandegrift base into another Khe Sanh, which was pounded daily with enemy artillery until the siege was lifted. Khe Sanh was later abandoned, a policy of greater mobility was announced, and Vandegrift, 20 miles from the Laotian border and out of range of North Vietnamese artillery inside Laos, became the major Marine combat base along the frontier.

Maj. Gen. Raymond Davis, commander of the 3rd Marine Division, said that Highway 926 was particularly important now because the Marines had cut off other enemy access routes in Operation Dewey Canyon, a two-month drive that has just ended.

On Sunday, the U.S. Command took the security wraps off another offensive, Massachusetts striker, which sent more than 2,000 American paratroopers into the A Shau Valley, 35 to 40 miles south of the Maine Crag operational area. The valley is the biggest North Vietnamese supply base and staging area in South Vietnam's northern quarter.

Helicopters landed troops of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in the valley on March 1 for the third major allied invasion of the area in less than a year.

But contact has been light and sporadic since the offensive kicked off, indicating that the paratroopers have encountered only rear guard and supply troops. U.S. headquarters reported that 61 North Vietnamese soldiers and 23 American paratroopers have been killed so far and 53 paratroopers wounded.

U.S. headquarters also indicated a North Vietnamese buildup in the extreme northwest corner of South Vietnam, 2½ to 3 miles south of the DMZ and within three miles of the Laotian border. It said U.S. B52s dropped nearly 400 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, base camps and bunkers in that area.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a ground fight below the eastern end of the DMZ Sunday and said 43 North Vietnamese were killed. Seven South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

In the third big American operation which has been announced, in the area of the Michelin rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon, U.S. spokesmen said 400 enemy troops had been killed during the past week. Only scattered fighting was reported over the weekend.

NIXON CONFERS WITH ADVISERS

Expect No Viet Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says no significant announcement should be expected following the weekend talks held by President Nixon and four top advisers on the course of the Vietnam war.

Nixon spent much of Sunday discussing the war and prospects at the Paris peace talks with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, foreign policy adviser Henry A. Kissinger; the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Ellsworth Bunker, and Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, deputy American commander in the war zone.

The talks started in California Sunday and continued on the flight back to Washington.

Nothing was said following the talks about details or any decisions that might have been reached. But White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler had indicated earlier there would be no announcements on the talks.

With Bunker and Goodpaster staying on in Washington for the time being, Nixon is expected to talk with them again during the week as Nixon works under increasing congressional and political pressure to come up with some decisions on the war.

In spite of the news blackout, it is known that Nixon has been considering what if any retaliatory action should be taken against North Vietnam because of the now month-long enemy offensive in South Vietnam.

And discussions of possible U.S. troop withdrawals from the combat zone have been held, although top administration officials have indicated a cut in U.S. troop strength is not now in sight.

Another controversial matter faced Nixon today at his first official meeting with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

The Canadian leader arrived for two days of talks with Nixon and other U.S. officials on the proposed missile defense system.

Trudeau has been under pressure to place Canada in a more independent position regarding continental defense and his political opponents have seriously questioned whether Ottawa should sanction Nixon's missile program.

No Withdrawal Seen for Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some key U.S. military leaders say it may take a year before substantial numbers of American troops can be withdrawn from Vietnam.

But they stress their judgment is based on military factors and acknowledge agreement at the Paris peace talks or a Nixon administration decision could start a pullout earlier.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Sunday, "I do not believe that now is the time" to discuss U.S. troop withdrawals.

Laird said this is because the enemy is continuing a "very affirmative and strong offensive" and because mutual troop pullback is a major negotiating issue in Paris.

However, the new Pentagon chief spoke of moving toward "Vietnamizing" the war by modernizing the South Vietnamese forces —

ARVN — on "a realistic basis" — meaning at a faster rate than the Johnson administration's program.

Senior officers said any unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops will have to be keyed to improved battlefield performance of the South Vietnamese troops, something which involves more than just modernized weapons and equipment.

"We'll know this fall," said one top military leader. "We should have a handle by then on how the ARVN's improvement is going."

U.S. commanders also should be able to tell by then if the elimination of the Viet Cong's deep rooted guerrilla structure is proceeding as expected, he said.

The United States now has more than 540,000 troops in Vietnam.

FOR INTERNATIONAL ARMS TRADE

War Brings Vast Weapons Pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The large influx of American, Russian and Chinese weapons into Southeast Asia because of the Vietnam war is leading to a vast pool of second-hand but highly usable arms for international trade, according to a prominent defense analyst.

Louis A. Frank, a member of the Stanford Research Institute, says the war will leave in its wake "hundreds of thousands of weapons, ranging from small arms through antiaircraft guns, tanks, mortars, mines and aircraft" that will be sold as surplus.

Frank, who released his study in a newly published book, "The Arms Trade in International Relations," also said a re-equipping of NATO forces expected in the early 1970s will add even more weapons to the surplus available for purchase.

The only restraints on the sale of these used weapons come from the nations who owned them originally. Such are far from effective, he indicated.

The armaments are put on the market, Frank said, because it is usually "too costly to repatriate the weapons."

He said the weapons sent to Southeast Asia will find willing buyers not only in South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos and Thailand, but also in neighboring areas such as Singapore and Indonesia.

The author, an economist who specializes in defense analysis with the Strategic Studies Center of the Stanford Research Institute in Washington, gave the following breakdown on some of the largest arms suppliers:

• The United States, the world's largest arms production base with 20,000 companies, sold $11.1 billion worth of new and used military aircraft, missiles and missile systems, ships, armored vehicles, weapons and ammunition from 1962 to 1966.

• Soviet Union, the second largest armaments industry in the world, exported between 1949 and 1968 more than 5,000 jet combat aircrafts including 1,200 MIG15s, more than 1,100 MIG17 sub-sonic fighter-interceptors to 21 countries.

Communist China received more than 1,000 Soviet jet planes before military aid came to a virtual halt in 1961. Moscow's second biggest customer is Egypt with 750 jet aircraft; Poland received 620, North Korea 465 and East Germany 270 to become the other major recipient.

Since 1950 the Soviets have supplied nearly 550 major type combat vessels to other countries with Poland, the UAR and Indonesia the major recipients.

The Soviets have supplied the PT76 light amphibious tanks which have recently seen action in Vietnam.

• Communist China, reliable data is scarce, but Taiwan sources estimate that as of 1965 there were 35 aircraft factories producing Chinese versions of the MIG21, 19 and 17; there were 129 arsenals and 2 plants for the production of military vehicles.

Antitrust Suit to Be Filed Against L-T-V

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department will file an antitrust suit against one of the nation's supergiant corporations in an effort to curb what an official terms the dangerous "merger-mania" of conglomerates.

The Department Sunday announced court action will be sought to force Ling-Temco-Vought Inc., the nation's 14th largest corporation, to "divest itself of all of its interests in the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp."

The Justice Department suit will set the stage for a test of whether current federal antitrust legislation is effective in controlling acquisition-minded conglomerates—corporations which hold power over several usually unrelated businesses.

LTV responded to the government announcement by saying it will vigorously defend its takeover of Jones & Laughlin, the sixth biggest steel producer in the country.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W.

McLaren said the suit, under the Celler-Kefauver Amendment to the Clayton Antitrust Act, is being filed now because the situation is too urgent to wait for new legislation.

If unchecked, McLaren said, such mergers as between LTV and Jones & Laughlin will result in "ever-growing concentrations of economic power by fewer and fewer persons relatively uncontrolled by government or competition."

LTV said it was confident the acquisition of J&L did not violate "existing antitrust legislation" and that "the courts will vindicate LTV's action."

Before initiating the takeover last year, the firm said, an opinion was obtained from "one of the nation's leading antitrust law firms" that the acquisition, if challenged, "could be successfully defended in court."

LTV's position is that its holdings are so diversified that they do not decrease competition in any field.

McLaren, to back up his warnings of dangerous economic concentrations, cites figures showing that the 200 largest corporations controlled 58.7 per cent of the nation's manufacturing assets in 1967, compared to 48 per cent held by the top 200 in 1948.

Busy, You Say?

Somehow you never meet a successful businessman who's too busy to talk about how busy he is . . . Larry Mathews says he was brought up in a tough neighborhood. "The kids used to steal cars — with the owner still in it!" Remember the good old days, when you could get a landlord to fix anything just by threatening to move? . . . There Were Things to Smile About

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(EDITOR'S NOTE: The big international and national news is usually on the grim side. But far beyond the headline focus, man harvests his crop of little triumphs that tell a more cheerful story. Here's a roundup on some happier occurrences in recent weeks.)

Andy Jacobson probably will spend his Easter vacation singing and playing the guitar for the patients at Philadelphia's University Hospital. Gordon Scott, paralyzed from the neck down, hopes to visit the zoo in Portland, Ore., for the first time because a lot of people are making it possible.

That's not the kind of things that headlines are made of. Good deeds, little bits and snips of cheer and humanity, unfortunately, get lost in the rush of news about the ABM, the Midwest, Vietnam, crime and the other sad tidings.

Andy, 14, who gets to the hospital whenever he can, was asked why he makes the visits. "Well," he answered, "I guess I just like people."

That says it for a lot of people, like the kind who are making life a little more enjoyable for Gordon Scott.

In Danville, Ill., four teenagers leaped from their automobile and chased off a masked man attempting to attack a woman. Boasted a police. "It's really good to know we have people like this in Danville who aren't afraid to go to the aid of someone in trouble."

Mary Moore got a certificate of distinguished service from the Dallas Fire Department for her "unselfish and heroic acts." This 10-year-old girl led seven younger children from a burning house to safety.

In South Paris, Maine, a good neighbor is a fellow who walks five miles in the teeth of a wind-driven snowstorm to fill grocery orders for snowbound people along his road. And delivers their mail in the afternoon. "I was getting cabin fever," said Alfred Proctor, a 28-year-old carpenter, "and we needed some groceries, so I just asked some other people in the neighborhood if they needed anything."

Not all is unrest on the campus: The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at Pennsylvania State University collected $1,600 for charity while its members staged a 48-hour basketball bounce-in.

Students at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., volunteered to donate blood to save the life of Danny Noonan, 14-months, who is stricken with hemophilia.

Heskinen D. Stewart, 23-year-old student leader of a drive to raise $100,000 for predominantly Negro Allen University, in Columbia, S.C., said the campaign is progressing "fairly well." So far it has raised $30,000 and the deadline was pushed back to May from March 8.

Charge German Spy Ships, Planes Sent Near Poland

WARSAW (AP) — West German spy ships and navy planes operate off the Polish coast and try to interfere with Polish vessels, a naval officer charged today.

Writing in the armed forces newspaper Zolnierz Wolnosci (Soldier of Freedom), Cmdr. Stanislaw Wolinski said that West Germany is preparing "plans of attack on Poland and the Socialist seaboard of the Baltic."

He added that the West German ships are gathering information not only for their government but also for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"Their activities are almost a blanket copy of the Pueblo operations," he said referring to the U.S. intelligence ship captured by North Korea.

Wolinski charged that the "intelligence activities of the West German navy considerably increased last year." He listed four hydrographic vessels, several destroyers, corvettes and torpedo boats which he said had appeared off the Polish coast.

"Patrols were accompanied by airplanes that often buzzed Polish navy vessels, flying as low as 160 feet above them," he said.

Delegates From Red Countries Set Final Meet

MOSCOW (AP) —

Communist delegates from 67 countries have decided to hold another "final" preparatory meeting before the world communist conference meets June 5 in Moscow, Pravda said Sunday.

A five-day meeting that ended Saturday was to have been the last one, but differences over the Kremlin's China policy resulted in the scheduling of another meeting May 23.

The Soviets have been trying for more than a year to bring the world's communist parties together, but last year's invasion of Czechoslovakia forced postponement of a November meeting and the flareup of fighting on the Soviet-Chinese border has postponed the conference three weeks, until June.

A communique said delegates to last week's meeting "expressed their points of view," the communist way of saying they did not agree.

It also invited "all communist and workers' parties" to take part in the final preparatory meeting—apparently an appeal to Yugoslavia, Cuba, North Vietnam, North Korea, Albania and China, which have stayed away from the preparatory meetings.

HHH Opposes 'Even Limited Missile Plan'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —

Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey Saturday night pointed out a difference between what his policies would have been and those proposed by President Nixon.

The defeated Democratic presidential candidate said he opposes "even a limited antiballistic missile system as proposed by President Nixon."

Humphrey, speaking at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at a Minneapolis hotel, is currently teaching at the University of Minnesota and Macalester College.

He said, "Both the United States and the Soviet Union are on the brink of moving to an entirely new plateau of highly sophisticated and destructive weapons."

Neither nation will be more secure than they were before, the former vice president added.

Humphrey urged "immediate arms control talks with the Soviet Union" and said the "foremost" problem facing the Nixon administration was bringing an end to the Vietnam war "through negotiations in Paris and a political settlement."

Humphrey spoke of other priorities facing the Republican administration.

A second high item, in Humphrey's opinion, is halting the nuclear arms race and a third, according to the former vice president, is facing "squarely the agony and the shame of the race issue."

Humphrey also talked politics, telling his fellow Democrats that "We must win the 1970 elections."

Church in Rome Again Loses Saintly Remains

ROME (AP) — For the third time in a week a thief has filched some saintly remains from a Rome church. This time it was the skull of St. Crisogono, a Greek who lived in the 4th Century. Police discovered the loss Sunday.

Newspapers call the thief "the maniac of the relics." Last week he stole the skull of St. Sylvester and the gold-decorated foot of St. Teresa Avilla.

On Friday the thief repented and returned the skull of St. Sylvester

PUMP ARRIVES . . . Unloaded early today, a large pump is ready to be assembled at the Sarnia-Mankato Avenue intersection. It will draw water from the Lake Winona outlet and throw it over the closed flood gate. The intake pipe will be lowered through a hole drilled directly in the street to the culvert beneath. 200 Walk Across To Nelson Side

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Some 200 persons walked across the interstate bridge from Wabasha to Nelson Sunday carrying such banners as "Bridge the Gap Between Minnesota and Wisconsin."

Nelson business people met them at the east side of the bridge and transported them in to Nelson.

Edward Passe, general chairman of the Jaycees committee sponsoring the walk, Tom Lindgren, Michael Ruby and Tom Young led the marchers, among whom were bankers, businessmen, students, farmers, nuns and others.

In New York City, there were 113,372 burglaries reported in the first eight months of 1968 compared with 94,106 reported during the same period the year before.

Department of Highways said this morning.

Engineers from Minnesota and Wisconsin are planning to inspect the bridge Tuesday for any of the remaining or new signs of over-stressing or distortion of the superstructure that caused officials to close the bridge to all but pedestrians.

A crack appeared in the steel of the superstructure while the Industrial Contractors firm was reinforcing piers 27, 28 and 29. All piers are being reinforced by the company because one pier came loose from the superstructure last June and fell into the Mississippi River.

Nixon Pleased By Painting; Gets It as Gift

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Painter Jean Carroll was at work when President Nixon strolled by.

Her painting of corridors inside San Juan Capistrano mission pleased the President. Mrs. Carroll offered it to Nixon as a gift, and he accepted.

A 31-year-old mother of four, Mrs. Carroll said she will frame the canvas and mail it to Nixon, who toured the mission on his weekend visit to California.

Driver Sought in Hit-Run Accident

Police are investigating a hit-and-run accident which occurred at 1:28 a.m. today at East Sanborn and Franklin streets.

A vehicle owned by Anna Theis, 223 1/2 E. Sanborn St., was parked facing south when it was struck by a southbound vehicle which did not stop at the scene of the accident. Damage to the left side of the parked 1965 model sedan was estimated at $75.

Berger, 18, 557 E. King St. Berger and a passenger, Edward Smoluch, 16, 871 E. Sanborn St., received bruises but were not hospitalized.

Berger pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving in municipal court this morning and was fined $100.

Damage to the right side of Berger's 1962 model sedan was estimated at $500. The parked vehicle, a 1966 model sedan, received $600 damage to the left side.

Although standing by his original forecast of a 19-foot river crest for Winona, Joseph Strub, chief meteorologist at the U.S. Weather Bureau in Minneapolis, today pointed to several encouraging signs — signs that could possibly bring a revision downward in the future.

The most encouraging sign, Strub said, is that while the melt thus far has been restricted

Firm to Make Commercial Cleaning Items

A new corporation for the purpose of manufacturing of commercial cleaning and floor products has been formed by three Winona residents.

The new firm, which is known as the Big Dutchie Products Corp., will manufacture commercial floor wax and cleaners, rug shampoo, liquid antiseptic hand soaps and a disinfectant for rinsing glasses for restaurants and bars.

Principals in the corporation are Ray W. Meyer, owner of Williams Hotel and Annex Bar; Thomas M. Price, 226 Grand St., a retired Army officer, and Morris E. Grove, 1731 W. Wabasha St., former sales manager for McConnon & Co. Grove is the chemical formulator of the products.

General offices of the firm are at Williams Hotel, 129 W. 3rd St.

NO SALE

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Delhi administration offered attractive terms to lure beggars from the streets—but to no avail.

They were offered free food, free lodging and one rupee (13 cents) a day for expenses. But there was a snag—they had to work on the capital's projects. The beggars have spurned the offer. They earn more without having to work.

The police have orders to round them up.

Engineers Build Dikes In City, 4 Area Towns

The Corps of Engineers has let four dike contracts in this area, in addition to the Winona contract.

Contracts for furnishing men and equipment for diking are at Wabasha, Houston, Peterson and Preston. Generally the contracts include riprapping if necessary, Eddie Sanchez of the Corps of Engineers said this morning.

At WABASHA on the Mississippi, Leon Joyce Construction, Rochester, has the contract at $61,310.

Park Construction Co., Minneapolis, has the $116,944 contract at HOUSTON on the Root and as reported Sunday, the $59,865 contract at PETERSON on the Root.

Torgerson Sand & Gravel, Lanesboro, has the $6,619 contract at PRESTON, as reported Sunday.

The contract at WABASHA calls for protecting the city based on a prediction by the U.S. Weather Bureau that the water will go to 16 1/2 feet.

The work at Wabasha will consist of building 4,600 feet of levee from 3 to 8 feet high, requiring 25,000 cubic yards of fill.

Workmen were on the job this morning. Reportedly, Joyce will use local trucks. James Bowman is representative of the engineers. Headquarters is the city hall.

The first dike under construction is from the Pfeilsticker farm west to the bluff where new Highway 61 will built. The second one is in the municipal harbor area, where slips were being cleared out this morning. The third dike will be the raising of the west end of Lawrence Boulevard.

The contract at HOUSTON calls for a dike 6,000 feet long and up to 6 feet high, the corps spokesman said. About 60,000 cubic yards of fill are required. (See Houston Story on Page 1B)

The dike at PETERSON will be 6,500 feet long, averaging 7 feet high, with 40,000 cubic yards of dirt involved. Thomas E. Jackson is the corps representative at Peterson.

A dike 1,000 feet long will be constructed at Preston. It will be 10 feet high and require 5,000 cubic yards of fill.

Sanchez said the engineers have no predictions on flood levels at Peterson and Preston, but plans are proceeding on the high experienced in 1965.

The public relations office said all other communities along the Mississippi are receiving such technical assistance as they are requesting plus sandbags, pumps, etc.

He said the Trempealeau, Beef and Black rivers, which flow into the Mississippi from Wisconsin, are being watched. So far, no assistance has been requested by cities and villages abutting them.

Sanchez said some of the dikes are being raised as permanent structures, with a siphon area in them to be opened in seasons when flooding isn't predicted.

The corps is furnishing bags to communities that don't have them and will fill them in emergencies.

DURAND, on the Chippewa has requested only technical assistance to date. Dikes are being built on the Chippewa River in EAU CLAIRE.

ALTOGETHER contracts totaling $1,643,625 for emergency flood protection at 22 communities along the Minnesota, Mississippi and St. Croix Rivers have been awarded, the engineers said.

Expenditure for supplies, including sandbags and pumps, is an additional $789,000.

The St. Paul district engineers office said the total length of protective levees under contract total more than 22 miles with 98 million cubic yards of fill to be used. The engineers said 302 earth-moving implements and 262 trucks are involved in the projects.

Among larger projects and the contract amounts are North Mankato $139,000, Chaska $157,500, Delano $115,500, and La Crosse, Wis., $160,000.

An Army reserve unit, the 397th Construction Battalion worked on the levee at Eau Claire, Wis., Saturday in an extended weekend drill involving bulldozers, picks, shovels and sand bags. About 800 officers and men took part.

HILLSIDE PROVIDES MATERIAL . . . Earth fill for Winona dikes is shoveled from hillside on Homer Road on a production line basis. Three bulldozers push dirt down to the roadside where two power loaders pick it up and load waiting trucks. Loading goes on at a rate of up to three trucks per minute. Twenty-four trucks are working on the project, hauling an average of three loads an hour. They travel about five miles in a single trip. (Daily News photo)

Strub 'Encouraged' by Melt

to extreme Southeastern Minnesota, the ground in this area has been able to absorb most of the moisture.

"MORE OF the water has been absorbed than we anticipated," Strub said. "We are hoping that this will be indicative of other areas in the western and northern parts of the state where the melt has not yet begun."

Strub reported that heavy snow cover still exists west and north of a line running through Austin, Waseca, Young America and Anoka in Minnesota, then eastward to Eau Claire, Wis., and southeast to Neillsville, Wis., and the Wisconsin Dells.

Rain now is the key, Strub said. His original forecast had called for a crest of 19 feet at Winona with no further precipitation and a crest near 21 feet with an additional inch and one-half of precipitation.

Since that time rains Thursday and Saturday of last week have produced 1.08 inches of moisture.

"THIS WILL not complicate the picture or cause us to raise our forecast above 19 feet," Strub analyzed. "The rain was pretty much confined to your area and, again was absorbed by the ground.

"My original prediction was based upon moisture occurring during a week when a heavy general melt was in progress," Strub said.

Above normal precipitation (normal would be 1.8 inches) still could produce more serious flooding, Strub implied.

The entire flood picture still is centered in the MANKATO area, Strub said.

"Although conditions thus far have been ideal, I still can't reduce my forecast of 29 feet (10 feet above flood stage) for Mankato," Strub reported. "Until I can reduce the Mankato forecast, I cannot reduce the Winona forecast. A reduced forecast of two feet for Mankato would cut the Winona forecast nearly two feet."

Strub also reported that while melting has not begun along the western reaches of the Minnesota River or the upper regions of the Mississippi, St. Croix and Chippewa rivers, most of the snow cover has disappeared from the lower areas of these rivers.

Runoff on the WHITEWATER and ZUMBERG rivers has not been as heavy as anticipated, Strub reported.

"This is encouraging for your area, since these streams will not be complicating the picture during mid-April, when the Winona crest should occur," he said.

STRUB concluded by saying that it would take rainfall between 1.8 and three inches to even bring the river to the stage of 20.75 recorded here during 1965.

"While all of the signs thus far are encouraging," Strub said, "we want to emphasize that heavy rains are the key. If we do not get above normal precipitation, there is no reason to believe that the 19-foot forecast will be exceeded."

City Dikes About Third Completed

Work on emergency dikes at Winona was about 30 percent complete today, according to John Pullin, Army Corps of Engineers project engineer for the project.

Approximately 25,000 cubic yards of earth have been hauled to dike sites. Pullin said the total estimated requirement is about 90,000 yards.

WINONA Excavating Co. crews worked a 12-hour day Sunday to more than make up for time-loss caused by rain last Thursday. Pullin said the contractor now is nearly a day ahead of schedule and that heavy work should be finished in another week barring unforeseen difficulties.

Construction time is being shortened from previous estimates by the addition of equipment used by the contractor. Pullin said the specifications were based on capacity of a fleet of 11 trucks. Winona Excavating had 24 trucks on the job today, as well as several additional pieces of heavy earth moving equipment.

Construction is concentrated today in the Levee Park area and dikes nearby. Work sites will move downstream within the next day or two. Dikes will be reinforced below Hamilton Street and protection provided in the vicinity of Armour Agricultural Chemical Co. Closures will be made at easterly parts of Bellevue and Mark streets shortly.

PULLIN SAID 350,000 sandbags are being warehoused here for use by flood-threatened communities in Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota. La Crescent officials picked up 10,000 bags today and 10,000 were allocated Sunday to Strum, Wis. Orders from other communities in the region are expected soon.

The bags are being stored in Leitch Press and Boland Manufacturing Co. buildings and at Archer-Daniels-Midland Co.

Dikes will be faced at some points with polyethylene held in place by sandbags, Pullin said. This will be done at points where excessive scouring by currents would pose serious threats to the earth dikes.

Thomson Asks End to Ban on Early Drawdown

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Cong. Vernon Thompson (R-3rd, Wis.) was joined by other congressmen representing areas along the Mississippi River in introducing legislation designed to reduce and minimize potential danger of threatening floods.

The bill provides that the Secretary of the Army, acting through the Corps of Engineers, shall to the maximum extent possible operate and control the pool levels in a manner that will prevent flooding.

Engineers have stated that under Public Law 80-697, drawdown of the pools in advance of anticipated floods is not permitted. "The enactment of this legislation will permit drawdown of the pools," Thomson explained.

"Although it appears that nearly all reasonably precautionary steps are presently being taken to minimize flood danger, I believe that lowering the pools might help limit the flooding, and therefore authorization to lower the pools should be written into law. I am demanding immediate hearings on this urgent matter," Thomson stated.

Council at Arcadia To Consider OKing Election Day Beer

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The city council has authorized City Clerk Warren Shankey to have papers prepared to amend Ordinance 105 to allow taverns to remain open on election days. The change, however, won't go into effect until after the April 1 election.

Marshal Checks Caledonia Fire

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Gunnar Thaug, state fire marshal, today was investigating the cause of the fire at the Hormel Packing Co. here shortly after midnight Friday.

Glenn St. Mary, fire chief, estimated damage to the office building at $2,500 and to the contents at $1,200. The office is operated by representatives of the Hormel company who come here periodically.

The building contained a large scale, which was damaged. Most of the office equipment, including filing cabinets, typewriters and other furnishings were damaged or destroyed. Arson was suspected.

The fire was discovered by Eugene Merzenich, a passerby, who summoned the fire department.

Cars Damaged At Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Property damage was reported in the collision of two cars at the intersection of Highways 60 and 61 in Wabasha Saturday at 3 p.m.

William Gusa, 22, Wabasha, was driving east on Highway 60 when the back part of his car was struck by the vehicle driven by Melvin O. Brye, Coon Valley, Wis., who was proceeding south on Highway 61.

The investigating officer said that a car parked in the street obscured Gusa's vision. There is a stop sign on Highway 60.

Damage to Gusa's car was estimated at $350 and to Brye's, $250. Gusa, home on furlough from the U.S. Air Force at Colorado Springs, is to leave for Vietnam.

No Rain Expected From Cloudy Skies

Although overcast morning skies hinted at the possibility of showers, the three-day weather forecast for the Winona area makes no mention of precipitation in this part of the state through Wednesday.

A cooling trend was evident, however, following a weekend which saw the mercury rise into the 50s on Saturday, then hold to an afternoon high Sunday of 44.

bringing to 1.14 inches the total precipitation in rain and melted snow thus far this month.

Normal precipitation for the entire month of March in Winona is 1.62 inches.

All but .06 of an inch of this month's precipitation came in last week's period of shower activity.

TODAY'S FORECAST calls for cloudy and cooler weather tonight with skies becoming partly cloudy Tuesday.

Tonight's low will be between 20 and 28 and a high of 30-42 is predicted for Tuesday.

Temperatures Wednesday will be near normal and the only precipitation expected will be possible light snow in the northern part of the state.

When Is a Star
Not a Star?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Oh, spring, spring, wonderful New York spring — hold it! Flash! Benjamin Franklin has the Hong Kong Flu.

Howard Da Silva who plays Sexy Ben the Lightning Rod Kid and inventor of the stove so superiorly in the new "1776" hit has virus or something. Standby Rex Everhard takes over for a week. Ah, gentle spring.

"I'm getting a cold," the B.W. says. "I'm taking some aspirin and going to bed." (Spring, spring!)

"John Adams" of the Continental Congress has troubles. Actor William Daniels, John Adams in "1776" is nominated for a "best supporting" Tony award — but telegraphs Alex Cohen, League of NY Theatres, declining, because he's listed as "starring" in the show.

An old rule says you can't be listed in the star class unless your name appears OVER the title. His is under.

We agree with him.

"A MISTAKE has been made," says Daniels (who played Dustin Hoffman's father in "The Graduate"). "I worked very hard to get a foothold as a star. I gave up a film as co-star with Barbra Streisand and Yves Montand, to get this star status. I'm not a temperamental actor. I just asked, 'Couldn't you quietly take my name out?' Producer Stuart Ostrow is with me 100 percent. It's not fair to me or good friends of mine in both categories. I assume they will respect my wishes and remove my name."

"Don't be silly," we tell him. "They are going to keep your name on that 'best supporting list' and the night of the TV show everybody's going to be watching to see if you show up to accept your award."

"Oh, they wouldn't do that to me. They will respect my wishes," he said. "If my name is not removed, I will not attend the ceremonies."

We told him we thought they would respect his wishes because it's good showmanship. Daniels, to show his sincerity, said that while he thinks he should be in the "star" category, he does not think he could win. "I think Joel Grey deserves it," he said. So here's a guy who could win in one category throwing it aside to lose in another so he'll be acknowledged as a star.

Nelson Urges
90% Milk
Price Support

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Gaylord Nelson said Wednesday that only a partial increase in the milk price support would "shortchange" the nation's dairy farmers.

"There are growing indications that the Nixon administration may propose only a partial increase in the present milk price support and will fail to restore it to 90 percent of parity, where former Agriculture Secretary Freeman set it a year ago," Sen. Nelson said.

"At that time, 90 percent of parity was $4.28 per hundred pounds of milk, or about 9 cents per quart. But, with production costs increasing at least 6 percent over the past 12 months, the support price is now only 84 percent of parity and approximately 30 cents below the highest authorized figure."

"The new milk price support must be announced by April 1, when the dairy marketing season begins. I hope Sec. Hardin will set the price support at 90 percent of parity as former Sec. Freeman did a year ago."

"With many dairy farmers entirely dependent upon the price support for the exact price they get for their milk, it would be a shame if the new administration failed to increase the price support to the full 90 percent of parity that Congress has authorized."

Missouri at Rolla are spending their spare time on Operation Assist, a joint project of the university, the Urban League and the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce. The idea is to fix up, without charge, a block of houses in St. Louis that need repair—and to learn something about the inner city.

The 1,500 pupils of New Brunswick, N. J., High School and city and school officials marched arm-in-arm around the school singing as a demonstration of racial goodwill.

Eight years ago Carlos Arboleya left his native Cuba with his wife and baby and only $50 in his pocket. Ask him about opportunities in this country and he will tell you, "Anybody can make his success in this country if he works hard." He is now Miami's youngest bank president, heading the Fidelity National Bank of South Miami. The bank, incidentally, is not Cuban-oriented. Arboleya did it on ability.

In Chicago, Irma Rodriguez is building a new life after a fire swept her apartment. Mrs. Rodriguez didn't ask for help, but it came anyway. When she reported for her job as a waitress she was handed a list of 20 names of customers who had offered assistance. "I've never had anyone help me so much in my whole life," she said. "I want to cry, but I can't—I just don't cry any more."

More than 100 persons who have received kidneys in transplants at the University of California Medical Center at San Francisco said "thank you" — en masse. They presented the center with a $7,000 van equipped with an organ preservation machine.

FLOOD PREPARATIONS

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Furnishings have been removed from the city marina bath house in anticipation of high water predicted for next month, according to John Halliger, harbor administrator. Halliger said a stage equal to that of 1965 is expected and that sandbagging will begin as soon as upriver conditions indicate it will be necessary.

Legislators Eye Referendum
On Water Pollution Control

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is another in a series of articles on questions appearing before the voters in Wisconsin's April 1 election.)

MADISON, Wis. — Voter response to an April 1 referendum on water pollution control and recreation will be of great interest to Wisconsin legislators.

Action on a bill to bond for a $200 million Outdoor Recreation Act Program ORAP-200 has been halted in the legislature pending the outcome of the election.

ON THE ballot, the proposition will be split into two parts allowing for separate votes on pollution and recreation.

The questions do not refer specifically to ORAP-200, but ask voters if they would favor state bonding subject to biennial legislative review for pollution control and recreation.

The pollution proposal would increase state aids to municipalities for construction of water pollution facilities. The recreation plan would expand state development of lands for camping, hunting, swimming and other recreational purposes.

In both cases, payments for the aids would be paid for by a bond issue.

Voter opinion on these issues will be advisory and not binding on the legislature.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles has endorsed the ORAP-200 proposal, which would provide $144 million for pollution abatement and $56 million for recreation.

The program was recommended by a task force appointed to study the present outdoor recreation act program, which is financed by a one-cent-per-pack tax on cigarettes.

Advocates of the ORAP proposal contend the present program does not produce enough revenue to meet Wisconsin's demand for additional recreation facilities.

INCREASED population, increased leisure time and improved roads which handle more traffic will contribute to well before the government itself uncovered the same evidence.

When Rinfret's report was released nearly a month ago it was considered little less than alarming, for it indicated that corporations planned to spend 14 per cent more than a year ago on plants and equipment.

This percentage was about twice what had been foreseen a few months earlier, and so mixed with the alarm was a good deal of skepticism regarding the report's accuracy.

Two weeks later the Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission released figures that confirmed the Rinfret survey. Their study showed American business planned a 13.9 per cent increase in spending.

In explaining the huge increase, Rinfret said bluntly: "The President goofed."

He added: "When Mr. Nixon abandoned the guidelines he set inflation on a more heady course than it had before he made his announcement."

"Why? Because everyone now knows that they can raise prices without fear of government reprisal. . . . In short, when Nixon abandoned the wage and price guidelines he stimulated inflation."

The guidelines referred to, as used by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, tied increases in prices and wages to advances in productivity, and in theory rebuted all other increases as inflationary.

Edie does not mention guidelines, but comments that "No degree of fine tuning or oral suasion can do an effective job. Practical economic measures are called for, since current policies furnish no acceptable solutions."

Edie goes so far as to say: "The possibility exists that more direct constraints, probably in the form of selective and direct controls, may be adopted as more efficient means to slow down excessive growth and inflation in the economy."

Rinfret suggests that a tax increase actually may be needed to halt the obviously strong inflationary pressures, some of which have grown sharply since Nixon took office rather than receding, as hoped and predicted.

Neither of these independent advisers, and some others who have made less outspoken criticism, has access to the information available to the administration, and such information could be all important.

If the Vietnam war were to end suddenly, for example, considerable pressure would be removed from the economy.

Neither does any large group of economists doubt the professional abilities of Nixon advisers such as Paul McCracken or Arthur Burns. But they are getting a bit impatient for more direct action.

The threatened spurge of business spending was first spotted by independent economists and consultants, most accurately by Pierre Rinfret,

NASON ON EDUCATION

Intelligence Not
Single FactorBy LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of So. Calif.

Some children start off well in school. Others don't. Despite all efforts, the gap widens.

Educators would like nothing better than to be able to narrow this gap. There is some evidence that the difference in learning rates is not due to basic difference in intelligence, but rather to a difference in the type of ability that pupils have for learning.

At least part of the difference between the learning abilities of groups of children appears to be tied to their background and home environment rather than their native intelligence. This is a challenge to educators. It's up to them to devise training activities through which the slow starters can rapidly acquire the background and abilities needed for success in our present school system.

ON THE AVERAGE, white children score higher on tests of school achievement than black children. The white children make higher grades. William D. Rohrer Jr., of the University of California at Berkeley, administered the Stanford Achievement Test to a sample of 3rd grade children. The difference between white and Negro groups in terms of mean percentile scores for reading was 71.7 vs. 21.8. This is strong evidence that the white children learn far more in their first three years of school than do the black children.

These statements of averages can be misleading. There are white children in the low group and there are black children in the high group, but the black children score lower in the main on I.Q. tests.

Research seems to indicate that those in the low group were not prepared for this type of test and consequently were not prepared for the type of instruction given them at school.

ROHRER MADE tests other than I.Q. of the children's ability to learn. The children were given instruction in the use of elaborative activities. This included envisioning objects when presented their names; naming objects seen, making up sentence description of episodes involving pairs of objects and envisioning these episodes.

The children were trained in squads of two and were seen on each of five days for approximately 20 minutes every day. With this approach, the black children learned at approximately the same rate as the white children. The experiment seemed to indicate that there is no lack in basic learning ability.

I am not suggesting that there be a separate educational system for black children. Eventually they must be able to read books, newspapers and work manuals. What I am suggesting is that better use must be made of the learning ability they bring to the school if they are to be given an equal chance for success in life.

'Politics of Confrontation' Worries State Legislators

By GERRY NELSON

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Legislature had two collisions last week with what might be called the "politics of confrontation," and it has lawmakers worried.

The problem is: What happens to the legislative process if demonstrators make a habit of disrupting committee meetings or even the full House and Senate?

It happened last week in the House Health and Welfare

Committee, where a bill to reform the state's abortion law triggered a demonstration by a group of women.

The women claimed they were denied a chance to present their views, even though the committee schedule had been clearly and publicly set and adhered to up to that point.

The committee chairman, Rep. N. K. "Mac" Hegstrom, St. James, gave the women a minute to get their banners out of the room. When they refused, he adjourned the meeting.

The result was that scheduled committee debate on the abortion bill went by the boards, and there was talk for a time that the demonstration might have killed all attempts to reform the abortion law.

The real losers were Reps. Robert Bell, Roseville, and Helen McMillan, Austin, who had hoped to see some version of their abortion bill get out of the committee.

They had nothing to do with the demonstration, yet they were penalized by the disorder. Bell called the women "a bunch of screwballs."

Most legislators applauded Hegstrom's action on grounds he had no other choice. To have kept the committee in session would have resulted in shouting chaos, and to have ordered the room cleared would have been impossible.

The legislature is guarded by sergeants-at-arms who are almost universally too old and too feeble to handle any sort of physical violence.

There's even some question of which police have jurisdiction in the Capitol—the Highway Patrol or the St. Paul City Police. At any rate, calling officers would be messy and in most cases probably would net the demonstrators precisely what they want.

House Majority Leader Aubrey Dirlam said in an interview that the possibility of demonstrations has been given considerable thought.

"One possibility—and one we don't want—is to have committees hold executive sessions . . . lock the doors," Dirlam said.

It is a tradition of the Minnesota Legislature to have open meetings of all committees, except for the rules committees and conference committees.

Should the hearings be closed, it would be the orderly public—those who have followed the rules down through the years—that would be penalized along with the demonstrators.

Dirlam agreed that Hegstrom had done the right thing, but he also agreed that Bell and Mrs. McMillan were the ones penalized.

The abortion bill may not become a casualty of that one disorder. The Senate Judiciary Committee is holding hearings on abortion bills and there are signs Hegstrom will be persuaded to take up the subject again.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate making it a gross misdemeanor to interfere with any public body, including disrupting legislative meetings.

But there could be a fine legal question in deciding what is a disruption and what is a legitimate exercise of a citizen seeking to present his views to the legislature.

The women on the abortion bill were not part of the organized groups appearing before and against the abortion bill in two earlier one-hour sessions, and they were not given a chance to testify.

Dirlam feels that any committee chairman must set limits on the testimony, or things degenerate into repetition. It doesn't change any lawmaker's mind to hear the same testimony from a dozen witnesses instead of two, he says.

But to the person who wasn't heard, that may not be relevant. That person feels his own view is the most important in the world.

The second confrontation last week occurred at a House subcommittee listening to student disorder bills. Several bills were introduced after the Morrill Hall indictment at the University of Minnesota, all calling for various types of penalties for demonstrators.

Young people opposing the bills hurled a variety of curses at the subcommittee and one woman lounged on the floor under the committee table, almost at the feet of one of the legislators.

The meeting produced some of the saltiest language heard in years in legislative halls, but the lawmakers declined to swap insults and the matter sputtered out.

Some high-level conferences have been held among state officials on what should be done in case of some sort of takeover at the Capitol. No decisions have been announced publicly.

Nearly one out of six employees in the United States now holds a government job.

Some Alaskan fishing villages are so dependent upon dog sleds for land transportation that the canine population of a typical village may outnumber the human population by 140 to 100.

Our teen-agers aren't lazy. A poll showed that three-fourths of high school juniors and seniors plan to hold summer jobs.

During the reign of King Edward III, a 14th century English monarch, metal was so prized that the pots and pans in the royal palace were classified among the crown jewels. Some modern girls go into the kitchen so seldom today that they could list the skillet among their novelty jewelry.

The penalty of shoes is foot disorders. Such ailments are almost nonexistent among primitive races that go barefoot.

Is your child a bedwetter? A study by a Canadian physician indicated that among one-fourth to a third of such children the probable cause was an allergy to such common foods as milk, eggs, citrus fruits and juices, or soft drinks.

Diabetes appears to be more prevalent among people who work with sweets and pastries. A check for the disease among four million Germans recently found diabetic signs among two per cent of the general population but nearly 9 per cent among bakers.

Time has taken a heavy toll of the work of Antonio Stradivarius, famed Italian violin maker who died in 1737 at the age of 93. Of the 3,000 stringed instruments he laboriously handcrafted over his long career, only 540 violins, 11 violas and 50 cellos are known to have survived.

Smoking can damage more than your lungs or heart. Last year it was the leading cause of fires in the home. Other top causes: Defective electrical wiring and malfunctioning heating systems.

Prosperity note: Has your income gone up 130 per cent in the last 10 years? Well, the total spending of federal, state and local governments has—from $130 billion to $310 billion. Yet most governments are deeper in debt than ever.

Americans are getting more and more retirement minded. Almost 43 million are now covered by some kind of retirement plan other than Social Security, and some 5.5 million are already receiving benefits.

Fillmore County Blood Drive Nets 461 Pints

RUSHFORD, Minn. — A total of 461 pints of blood was received in Fillmore County last week, according to Mrs. L. W. Wilson, Rushford.

The Red Cross bloodmobile at Harmony Friday received 75 units. There were 15 first-time donors and six rejects as 81 came through the unit. Leonard B. Larson of Mabel and Olga Kyseth of Harmony earned three-gallon pins and Adolph O. Larson, Mabel, and Ed Harms, Harmony, two-gallon pins.

A total of 81 units was received at Lanesboro Thursday, with 20 first-time donors, 11 rejects and 92 coming through, although 170 registered. A three-gallon pin was earned by Mrs. Orley Grindland, Fountain; two-gallon pins by Pastor Leon Holtan and Mrs. Maynard Ask and one-gallon pins by Duane M. Hungerholt, Edwin G. Kocher and Mrs. Orvis Hanson, Lanesboro.

The contribution at Chatfield was 63 pints, with nine first-time donors and four rejects. The total units received at Spring Valley was 127, with 16 first-timers and six rejects. Earning two-gallon pins were Mrs. Evelyn E. Sween, Ostrander, and Lloyd Lucas and Joseph E. Fitzhugh, Wykoff; three-gallon, Walter Wendorf, and J. P. Anderson, Spring Valley; and one-gallon pins went to Jack B. Kenning, Mrs. John Bernard Leonard E. Olson, Hugh A. Fowler, J. P. Anderson and Leo E. Kiraball, Spring Valley; Mrs. Bertha Nelson, Ostrander; and Mrs. Edward Meisner and David A. Schier, Wykoff.

The Rushford contribution was reported previously.

To Attend Summer School Patrol Camp

DOVER-EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — Four elementary school safety patrol members have been selected to attend the Leightonville Camp at Brainerd this summer. Candidates are picked on the basis of school record, attitude toward safety responsibilities, citizenship, and leadership.

Patrol members and their sponsors are: Jerry Knowlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Knowlton, Eyota; Dover-Eyota Parent Teacher Association; Renee Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Block, Viola, Farmers State Bank, Eyota; Barbara Bicknese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bicknese, Dover; Dover-Eyota Activity Fund; and Gary Pederson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Pederson, Dover, Eyota Commercial Club.

Dover-Eyota Hosts Band Festival

DOVER-EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — Approximately 1,000 band contestants will attend the district band festival at Dover-Eyota High School April 11. Bands from 13 schools will participate. The All-State Band tryouts also will be held at this session. Jerome Paulson is the band clinic director.

Since the entire high school will be taken over for band contest and practice groups, classes will not be in session at the high school that day. School will be in session, however, at the elementary buildings. Teachers and selected students will be at the school to help with the operation of the band clinic.

Each year the clinics are held to provide school comparison and competition of musical organizations. Dover-Eyota, because of adequate facilities, is assigned a turn in hosting the event as per schedule in the district.

Watts Gets Its Movie House

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It might seem odd to have a dedication ceremony for a theater marquee, but in the case of the Watts Movie House, the event seemed reasonable.

10 Minutes to Supper?

SPRINGDALE COTTAGE CHEESE

answers the salad problem Since 1912 Springdale Dairy

The brief ceremonies took place one morning last week on East 103rd Street, which rampaging mobs took apart in the Negro riots of four years ago. One of the journalists who covered the story was David I. Zeitlin of Life magazine. He noted that Watts hadn't a single movie theater.

"Originally there had been 17 movie houses in southeast Los Angeles," says Zeitlin, now a producer for Universal. "But they had all been closed down. The blacks considered them merely an extension of the white establishment and hence they were against them."

Zeitlin believed something should be done to bring film entertainment to Watts, and he began collecting help from influential persons in the movie industry.

Don't Neglect Slipping FALSE TEETH

Do false teeth drop, slip or wobble when you talk, eat, laugh or move? Don't be annoyed and embarrassed by such mishaps. FASTEREIT, an alkali free tooth-aid powder to sprinkle on your plates, keeps false teeth more firmly set. Gives confident feeling of security and added comfort. No gummy, gooey taste or feeling. try. For two years the industry supported a low-cost movie program at a junior high school. But seeing movies at a school didn't appeal to the Watts youth, and the project folded.

The campaign for a Watts theater continued. Cash donations came from Robert Wise, Sidney Pollter, Paul Newman and other film figures. National General Corp., operator of theater chains, donated a projector and seats. Columbia Pictures provided a sound system. The Southern California Gas Co. gave a heating and air conditioning system.

The site of the theater was significant: It had been a supermarket before being gutted by fire in the 1965 riots.

The prime movers in the campaign for the Watts Movie House gathered in front of the building to dedicate the brand-new $5,000 marquee. Among them were Councilman Tom Bradley, who also happens to be running for mayor of Los Angeles; Ed Goff of Watts Urban Design Workshop, which will direct the refurbishing of the building; Bruce Corwin of Melropolitan theaters; Harry Dolan, now a successful script writer after having been discovered in the Watts Writers Workshop. Also present was author Budd Schulberg, who founded the Writers Workshop shortly after the riots. It now has branches in nearby Long Beach, Altadena and Pasadena, as well as Seattle, San Francisco and Washington, D.C. Schulberg told the small crowd:

"This whole thing started in a pantry of a house just around the corner from here four years ago. What we found was a lot of talent going to waste, and we wanted to do something about it. One of our dreams was to have a place for talent to be seen and heard. This theater was the result of that dream."

The former supermarket has been used to develop new plays, including "Big Time Buck White," currently appearing off Broadway. Now it will also be used, said Schulberg, "to show the best of black films and the best of white films."

The renovation, to be done mostly with Watts labor, is expected to take two months. First run films will be provided free of charge by the movie companies, and a minimum admission charge will admit Watts residents to the 400-seat theater.

"We've done everything we could do," said one of the speakers at the dedication. "Now it's up to the people of Watts to make it a success."

Desertion Rate Not Too Disturbing

DESERTIONS from the U.S. armed forces occur at the rate of one every 10 minutes. During 1968, the equivalent of three and one-half combat divisions deserted, or a total of 53,357 men.

A deserter is defined as one who is absent without leave (AWOL) for more than 30 days.

Desertion has increased as the Vietnam war has escalated, but until 1968 it was not unusually high. For example, the 1967 desertion rate was 21.4 per 1,000, compared to 29.1 per thousand in 1968, and 22.5 at its highest rate during the Korean War.

As disturbing as these figures are, they pale beside figures from World War II. During 1944, the desertion rate was 63 per 1,000.

Nevertheless, a Senate subcommittee studying these matters has urged the military to get tougher with deserters, especially those who flee to foreign countries. A few days after the subcommittee made its report, a soldier court-martialed for deserting Vietnam service to a foreign country was sentenced to four years at hard labor and was dishonorably discharged. He was the first from Vietnam to be court-martialed for this offense.

THE DESERTION figures are remarkable and offer material for realistic self-appraisal.

They show that American soldiers have been deserting in large numbers in every war since the American Revolution. The Vietnam war is no exception. Those who like to think that such acts are an exclusive symptom of the present, an indication patriotism is not what it used to be, are leaning on the wrong statistics. It is a symptom of war, not of modern times.

They re-emphasize that human frailty and American frailty are the same. Therefore, the privileges and freedoms we enjoy are perishable and require nourishment and protection, for there is no divine law that will intervene to insure a "happily ever after."

AND, THE DESERTION facts provoke thought: U.S. soldiers, during the most unpopular war in U.S. history, are deserting at only half the rate they did in 1944, when the U.S. cause seemed clearly just.

Retain Chief Justice Hallows

(Wisconsin State Journal, Madison)

APPARENTLY the only reason E. Harold Hallows, chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, has opposition for re-election in April is that another fellow wants his job.

Chief Justice Hallows, a veteran of more than a decade on the state's highest court, a distinguished lawyer and professor of law before his appointment, a judge who was elected by the people in 1959, faces opposition although no effective issue has been raised against him.

In this non-partisan judicial election, Justice Hallows goes before the voters on his record as a judge who participated in more than 3,000 written opinions and who authored about 400, to help write a distinguished chapter in the history of a great court.

Unlike some of the highly controversial decisions of the Warren Court, decided by a vote of a single judge, the record of the Wisconsin Supreme Court has been outstanding through the years, thanks to chief justices of the caliber of Marvin B. Rosenberry, Timothy Brown, John Martin, George Currie, and the present chief justice, E. Harold Hallows.

THE STATE'S highest appeals court needs not only top-flight men, but continuity. Justice Hallows has proved himself as an able jurist, a serious student of the administration of justice, and The Wisconsin State Journal urges his retention in the April election.

Fee Schedule No Longer Makes Sense

(Red Wing, Minn.,
Daily Republican Eagle)

WABASHA-WINONA Sen. Roger Lauf- enburger is one of the state legislators taking the lead in needed reform of Minnesota's motor vehicle license tax. In a report to constituents he illustrates well why a fee schedule based on weight of the car no longer makes sense:

"A Jaguar priced at $5,500 (port of entry, New York) is licensed at $21; a four-door Falcon sedan priced at $2,167 (factory) is also licensed at $21."

A CHANGEOVER to value as the basis for motor vehicle fees rather than weight and age seems very much in order. But the change is complex and will take at least two years' time, Sen. Lauf- enburger says.

Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Dost thou fear God for naught?—Job 1:9.

A WORD EDGEWISE

Red Chinese Facing Trouble

By JOHN P. ROCHE

It is quite conceivable to me that by the end of 1969 there will be one less nuclear power in the world. I don't know who holds the insurance on the Red Chinese nuclear factories in Sinkiang (perhaps Lloyd's of London?), but I would suggest the policies be canceled. A basic tenet of Bolshevik military doctrine is pre-emption. Back in the 1930s Leon Trotsky bitterly criticized Joseph Stalin for not launching a preventive war on Nazi Germany before the latter had built up its military strength; later he supported the invasion of Finland to provide in-depth defense for Leningrad. Last August we witnessed in Prague the most recent evidence of the doctrine "strike first, explain later."

Fortunately American second-strike capacity eliminates pre-emption as an instrument of Soviet policy vis a vis the United States — the U.S.S.R. is not run by mad men. However, when the Soviet version of the Joint Chiefs of Staff look at Red China, they are presented with a different and quite cheering perspective. First of all, Peking is caught in what I call the "Singapore bind": The British had prepared to defend Singapore from a seaborne invasion so all the big guns faced the ocean. The Japanese, uncooperatively, came by land. Similarly, when the Red Chinese set up their nuclear installations, they went to great pains to put them as far from Taiwan and Okinawa as possible. They put them out in Chinese Turkestan right next door to their ideological comrades, the Russians. It is quite a trip from a U.S. base on Okinawa, but the Soviet forces in Alma-Ata could fly down and be back for supper.

SECOND, WHILE Peking has an enormous army, it has a fourth-rate air force and a very low level of mechanization, mostly obsolete Soviet equipment. Soviet military sources reveal no great aversion to a "land war in Asia" and given the state of their forces it is likely that they would dispose of the Chinese much as the Germans in 1914 slaughtered and routed the huge Czarist armies massed against them.

We often forget that the Americans, South Koreans, and their U.N. allies in Korea virtually obliterated three Red Chinese field armies. American total casualties were 142,000 (34,000 dead), while a special report to the U.N. Secretary General on Aug. 7, 1953, estimated enemy casualties (excluding civilians) as between one and a half and two million.

According to the authoritative Institute for Strategic Studies in London, the Soviets are not taking any chances. Guarding the Manchurian border and the exposed maritime salient (Vladivostok) are no fewer than 15 crack infantry divisions plus four armored divisions. Furthermore, they have medium-range missiles in Mongolia and uncontested aerial supremacy. All that is lacking is a good excuse to send up the balloon. Even a bad excuse would suffice.

Right now Peking, driven by demonic frustrations, seems well on its way to providing Moscow with a hunting license. The Red Chinese army has long since been purged of "revisionist dogs" — a "revisionist dog" being an officer who suggests that a copy of Mao's thoughts is no equivalent of an anti-tank rocket. Peking has apparently decided to take the initiative in border clashes and — ominously — these trivial fire-fights have been played up in the Soviet press.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Powerful Natural Gas Firm Case Dismissed

By DREW PEARSON

SPOKANE, Wash. — The powerful El Paso Natural Gas Company, which paid the Nixon law firm $771,129.83 during the years 1961-67, has managed to get the Justice Department to dismiss an antitrust case involving the 11-year battle over competing pipelines in the Far West.

John Mitchell, now attorney general, who dismissed the case on Jan. 26, six days after taking office, is a former senior partner in the Nixon law firm.

Gov. Reagan's administration in California subsequently dismissed California's suit against El Paso, as did Gov. Calvin Rampton of Utah, under very peculiar circumstances.

The case involves the attempt by El Paso Natural Gas, biggest pipeline company in the world, to monopolize the supply of natural gas to the Far West by buying up and merging with Pacific Northwest Gas, its chief competitor, on Dec. 31, 1959. The Supreme Court overturned this merger in 1962 with a strongly worded opinion.

THREE TIMES the Supreme Court has spoken out on this case, each time vigorously ruling against natural gas monopoly. The last time it spoke out, it severely criticized U. S. District Judge Willis Ritter of Salt Lake City, and ordered him removed from the case. "Judge Ritter," the Supreme Court stated, "has knuckled under to El Paso."

The case then was turned over to U. S. District Judge Olin Hatfield Chilson, who okayed a merger between Pacific Northwest Gas and Colorado Interstate Gas.

Because this would give two companies a monopoly of the entire West, the Justice Department under Attorney General Ramsey Clark filed a new antitrust suit. The state of California and the state of Utah joined in the suit. The merger of Pacific Northwest with Colorado Interstate, they contended, would let El Paso and the new combine divide the western market between them.

Attorney General Clark stated that he considered the case one of the most important antitrust suits in the country.

He had only been out of office six days, however, when his successor, who had been Nixon's campaign manager and a partner in the firm which received $771,129.83 from El Paso, dismissed the suit. Attorneys in the antitrust division of the Justice Department were very much opposed to the dismissal.

After Attorney General Mitchell pulled the rug out from under the whole litigation, Gov. Reagan followed in California with a dismissal of its case as did Gov. Rampton in Utah, a Democrat. Interesting aspect of the latter dismissal is that the letter of dismissal was signed not by Attorney General Vernon Riffe of Utah but by the governor, who normally does not sign legal papers.

FURTHERMORE, notice of the dismissal was mailed to other attorneys in the case in the envelopes of Colorado Interstate Gas in Colorado Springs, not in the envelopes of the Utah State government, nor from Salt Lake City which is the capital of Utah.

Gov. Rampton, in telling the press why he dismissed the case, lamely explained that Colorado Interstate had promised to deposit some of its funds in Utah banks, which, of course, has nothing to do with the rates which Western Gas consumers will now have to pay as a result of monopoly.

El Paso has already been forced to refund $155,000,000 to California consumers for overcharging, and at the present moment is passing the federal surtax increase on to Pacific Gas and Electric, which in turn is passing it on to consumers. Congress, of course, never intended that the surtax be passed on to consumers.

The entire gas monopoly case comes before the Supreme Court again next week as the result of petitions sent to Chief Justice Earl Warren by two University of Utah professors, John Flynn and Daniel Stewart Jr., together with a separate petition by William Bennett of San Francisco, former chairman of the California Public Utilities Commission. It was Bennett who brought the first three suits against El Paso and won three verdicts in the Supreme Court.

Petitions of this kind by private citizens are unusual, but the court previously held, when it removed Judge Ritter from the case, that it retained jurisdiction until its mandate had been carried out.

FORMER SEN. Clarence Dill of Washington State, father of Grand Coulee Dam and the Federal Communications Act, has returned from inspecting Russia's big Bratsk Dam on Lake Baikal. Dill reports that, though not as high or wide as Grand Coulee it generates more power, thanks to the tremendous volume of water which pours out of Lake Baikal, the biggest fresh water lake in the world.

The Russians have constructed one of the most modern power transmission systems in the world, and carry their power approximately 4,000 miles for use in the industrial areas of central Russia. They have also constructed modern apartment houses in Siberia, but can't get older generation Russians to live in them. They prefer their old-fashioned cottages, many of them built of logs.

"The invasion of Czechoslovakia took place while I was in Siberia," said former Sen. Dill, "and several Czech delegates were with us. They said they were more interested in power than in politics. They did not leave."

ON THE RIGHT

An Elastic Type Of Fiscal Reform

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

We are told that one of Mr. Nixon's commissions is hard at work on the revision of the tax laws, and that is reassuring. They should certainly be revised. They groan under the weight of inequity, and asymmetry, but by that I do not mean oil depletion allowances, the incarnation of evil without the existence of which The Nation magazine would simply have to fold.

I have always thought that the oil depletion allowance is positively the easiest thing around to handle: If the Department of Commerce reasons that there is overproduction in oil (there is, by the way), well let the Department recommend that oil discovered after 1 January 1970 shall not be subject to depletion benefits. Where the typical liberal errs is in lusting for retroactive penalties. Although he is all the time talking about justice, he somehow reasons that it is just (a) to encourage drilling for oil by offering the reward of a depletion allowance — and then (b) to eliminate that allowance after a prospector has risked his money and struck the oil. It is as if Governor Rockefeller, after plying his lottery tickets and offering ten thousand dollars to the winner of the lucky ticket, should on the day of the drawing announce that on second thought, five thousand dollars for the winner is quite enough.

THEN THERE IS the bugaboo about the man with the million dollars of income in 1968 who paid zero taxes. Sounds bad, but it bears examination. What if in 1967 he lost a million dollars? I note that my brother writers were unanimous a few years ago in asking that rewards for successful books should be applied over a period of five years, i.e., to compensate for the lean years. What we desire for ourselves in measuring our exiguous income should presumably apply to others, even if they are rich. Every now and then it pays to remind ourselves that it is not a sin to be rich, yea, neither is it anti-social to be rich.

One fears that Mr. Nixon's reforms will be jerry-built. Raise this tax, lower that one, increase that exemption, reduce the other one, up the sickness allowance, down the cocktail deduction; that kind of thing. And never mind that it has been proved again and again that every single effort to make justice by tax laws results in the making of new injustices: And, always, the tax form becomes longer, the tax law more complicated, and always always, human ingenuity manages to exploit the loopholes so that in eliminating this one, you merely create that one.

If only Mr. Nixon would advocate radical reform. Professor Milton Friedman has pointed out that if the federal government (a) eliminated all personal deductions; and (b) doubled all dependent exemptions, the government could (c) raise as much money as it now raises by laying down a flat tax of 20 percent on all income. Any attempt to strain that proposal through the usual injustice-collecting filters leaves us a little confused. Obviously the poor would greatly benefit from doubling the exemption — which, obviously, should be doubled if it is to remain a serious effort to judge the cost of rearing and maintaining a child. Obviously the rich would be hurt from the removing of deductions, tax-deductibles having become perforce a way of life for so many of them. And then on top of it all to abandon finally the progressive feature of the income tax! — that socialist accretion of the 20s and 30s, so relatively useless as a revenue raiser (less than two percent of the government's revenue comes from the — over $50,000 per year — very rich), so obviously punitive.

THEN LET THE individual states write their own tax codes — including progressive rates, as the individual state sees fit. And let the facilities of the federal government be available to the states, so that, for instance, a resident of Illinois earning $15,000 per year would pay the 20 percent to Washington and — after looking at the Illinois chart under $15,000 — an additional five percent, which will be remitted by Washington to Illinois. The simplicity, the reorientation of economic effort away from tax-advantage towards true economic advantage, staggers the imagination. Alas, not unlikely it will stagger the imagination of Mr. Nixon's tax advisers who will be afraid to reach out for true reform, fearing the demagogic furies. But who knows, maybe Mr. Nixon has a surprise for us. It is about time.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can you tell the difference between flu and ordinary cold?—J.P.

In severe flu, you're sick enough so there isn't any doubt and fever is present. Severe aching is a common symptom. In mild cases of flu, there is no positive way to tell the difference, except by very complicated laboratory studies of samples of the virus that is present. Treatment for mild flu is the same as for a cold.

CANDY STRIPERS HOST PINKETTES

Fifty-one Pinkettes, teen-age hospital volunteers, from St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, met with local Candy Strippers Saturday at the solarium of Community Memorial Hospital. Chatting at a "Coke" break are from left, Sheila Tracy and Mary Lawler, Rochester; Katy Murphy, Winona; Marie Frederick, Rochester, and Karen Zeches, Winona.

The program in Rochester includes girls from 14 to 17 years old while in Winona it is 15 to 18 years old. Pinkettes are supervised directly by hospital personnel and they help in tray service, central supply, and in the office. In Winona, Candy Strippers work under the Women's Auxiliary and work at the information and hostess desk, gift shop, coffee shop, and on the flower cart.

Tours of the hospital were arranged by Mrs. Maurice Schuh assisted by Mrs. Mary Lee Blake and Mrs. Elmer Boller. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee with Mrs. Lavern Lawrenz in charge, assisted by Mrs. Arnold Jackson and Mrs. Jerry Papenfuss. The Candy Striper program in Winona is under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. L. Korda and Mrs. Ted Biesanz. (Daily News Photo)

Believe Russian Cellist May Have Defected

NEW YORK (AP) — A cellist with the touring Moscow State Symphony Orchestra has vanished and police believe he may have defected.

Vsevolod Lezhnev, 37, was reported missing Saturday, police said, by the first secretary of the Soviet mission to the United Nations, Evgeny N. Alechin. Lezhnev was last seen Friday night when he checked out of the Wellington Hotel near Carnegie Hall carrying his luggage and cello. He missed a Saturday night concert in Baltimore and a Sunday concert in Washington.

The orchestra is scheduled to return to Moscow Tuesday on an Aeroflot flight from New York.

Police said Lezhnev was 5 feet 8, 145 pounds, with blond hair, blue eyes, fair complexion, medium build and eyeglasses. He speaks broken English, police said.

In Washington, the State Department said it had no information on the matter.

Hennessy Heads Lewiston Group

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — T. R. Hennessy has been elected chairman of the group to promote low rental housing in Lewiston for the retired, senior citizens, or anyone with low or moderate income.

Gordon Jones has been named secretary. Les Ballard, Alex Siebenaler, Vernon Zander and the Rev. Leslie Gehring will serve on the steering committee.

A survey will be made to determine the number of units to be constructed, and the non-profit corporation will attempt to secure a FHA loan.

Appointment Blocked

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The government has blocked the appointment of a black professor to the University of Cape Town faculty. Education Minister Jan de Klerk told the university that naming African Archie Mafeje as lecturer in social anthropology would flout "the accepted traditional outlook of South Africa."

Students are mostly white and the university has only one colored (mulatto) faculty member.

'Outstanding' Choir Begins Spring Tour

By EARL A. SCHREIBER

Fine choirs definitely have their vintage years. The Winona State Concert choir is currently a most outstanding musical group. This was vividly displayed Sunday afternoon as the choir initiated its spring tour which will take them as far east as Washington, D.C.

UNDER the direction of Richmond McCluer, head of the music department, the 70-member chorus presented a brilliantly executed program of musical entertainment, charm and beauty.

The first section was entitled, "Early American Choral Music," and set the spirit, the variation in texture, and general excitement in works by Billings, Morgan and Antes. "Gloria," by Vivaldi, included vocal solos by Nancy Johansen and Rebecca Van Auker. The chorus seemed especially inspired in the "Gloria in excelsis," the "Et in terra pax hominibus," the "Domine fili unigenite" and "Cum Sancto Spiritu."

Setting the mood with two guitars, the chorus sang three folk songs. "Shenandoah" was splendidly presented in a sparkling, modernistic arrangement by director McCluer.

Emphasis was upon understanding the words, capturing their mood, and then transferring the text precisely to the audience. Attacks and releases were as exact as one expects from a professional instrumental group. There were very few intonation problems.

A smaller group within the choir presented a series of madrigals which portrayed well the enthusiasm and atmosphere found in this type of folk music. An intriguing work by Ernest Toch, "Geographical Fugue," made use of the area between talking and singing — choral reading with a beat.

ANOTHER excellent ensemble was the brass quartet composed of two trumpets and two trombones. Their interpretation of the Frackenhof "Quartet for Brass" was somewhat like a musical jig saw puzzle in which all the pieces finally fit into place.

Concluding the program, which was well attended by an impressed and responsive audience, the chorus and brass quartet combined to present Paul Chelbel's "Now Thank We All Our God," a modern composition entitled "O Lord God of Hosts," and Daniel Pinkham's "Festival Magnificat." All the selections of this last section were especially appropriate before Holy week and Easter. Winona State College will be well represented by the concert choir during its spring tour.

The McKinley United Methodist Church was the setting for the March 15 marriage of Miss Barbara Ann Oevering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Oevering, Stockton, and Richard Allen Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins Rasmussen, Rushford, Minn.

The Rev. Eugene Meyers and the Rev. Don Arnold officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Harvey Gordon provided the nuptial music and Margie, Sandy and Peggy Oevering and Rev. Arnold were soloists.

ESCORTED to the altar by her brother, Lawrence, and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The bouffant floor-length skirt had a redingote front with tiers of lace ruffles.

A bouffant, waist length veil of imported silk English illusion was held by a flowerette of lace and organza and she carried a bouquet of long stem red roses. Mrs. Jerome Palmer, Stockton, attended her sister as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Dian Rasmussen, Rushford; Mrs. Kenneth Oevering, Stockton, and Miss Nancy Oevering, Winona.

They were groomed identically in floor-length gowns of blue crepe with veils held by matching bows and they carried cascade bouquets of blue tinted carnations.

Miss Dixie Jones, Lewiston, was the bride's personal attendant. Suzan Oevering, flower girl, dressed identically to the bridesmaids carried a basket of rose petals. Todd Rasmussen, Stockton, was ring bearer.

DALE RASMUSSEN, Winona, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the groomsmen were Dennis Rasmussen, Winona; Kenneth Oevering, Stockton, and Allen Rasmussen, Rushford. Ushers were Robert Rasmussen, Rushford, and Wayne Oevering, Winona.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Oevering wore a light blue dress and Mrs. Rasmussen was attired in a navy blue gown.

The reception was held in the church parlors.

The bride was given showers by Mrs. Dennis Rasmussen, Mrs. Dale Rasmussen and Miss Dian Rasmussen at Minnesota City; by Mrs. Lawrence Oevering, Mrs. Judie Oevering, Mrs. Kenneth Oevering and Mrs. Jerome Palmer in Winona; by Mrs. Joe Speltz and Miss Linda Gappa at Winona and by Miss Dixie Jones and Miss Shari Oevering at Stockton.

After a brief honeymoon the couple will be home in Norfolk, Va.

Beauty MAGIC

BY CAROLYN CRAWFORD

Brushing is your hair's form of exercise! There is nothing — repeat, nothing — as beneficial to hair health as the faithful 100 brush strokes morning and night. Preferably, use a natural bristle hair brush. The artificial bristles or those made from plastic often irritate and tear the hair shaft. Combs also irritate the scalp so should be used sparingly. After 25 brush strokes, wipe the brush with a clean washcloth to remove the dirt. Regularly, wash the brush (and comb) in soapy hot water and let dry.

Nelson Urges Biological Warfare Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., urged today an immediate investigation of the facts surrounding the Defense Department's activity in the field of chemical and biological warfare.

"Under the cloak of national security, there is reason to speculate that some of the most hideous and degrading forms of human warfare are being manufactured at the expense of the unsuspecting taxpayer," Nelson said in remarks prepared for a Senate speech.

HE SAID a recent Defense Department briefing on chemical and biological warfare for members of Congress was really more lobbying for additional funds than it was an honest attempt to answer questions that were posed.

The Wisconsin senator said an estimated $300 million to $350 million is being spent annually on research and development of chemical and biological weapons.

"What is perhaps more significant than the dollar sign is the cloak of secrecy which has surrounded our activity in CBW research and development," Nelson said.

"The public has a legitimate right to know why the lid has been kept so tightly on the subject," Nelson added. "If our defense authorities believe that CBW is easily misunderstood and misinterpreted, then we in Congress, as well as the American public, deserves to know why this is so."

NELSON ALSO asked what were the official policies for the use of such weapons in the event they are used first by a foreign aggressor against us.

"Who makes the decision to deploy anthrax, the plague, or a lethal nerve gas?" he asked. "What are the ground rules?"

He Was Killed in Vietnam

Parents Given Son's Medals and Awards

Ten awards and/or medals were awarded posthumously Sunday afternoon to Army Pfc. Gary F. Cysewski, 22, who was killed in action Sept. 11, 1968, in the Republic of Vietnam.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cysewski, 463 E. Broadway, accepted the awards, including the Bronze Star Medal with oak leaf cluster and valor medal (3 Bronze Stars in one), Army Commendation Medal and Purple Heart.

OFFICIATING at the ceremony at the U.S. Army Reserve Center was Maj. Joseph Rislove, Rushford, commander of Sec. 1, 407th CA Company.

The citation accompanying the Bronze Star Medal (first oak leaf cluster) for the Sept. 11 action while serving with Company C, 1st Battalion, 2nd Infantry, 1st Infantry Division, states:

"For heroism not involving participation in aerial flight, in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam:

"On this date, Pfc. Cysewski was serving as a rifleman with his company during a battalion-minus reconnaissance in force operation near the village of Loc Ninh. At approximately 1600 hours, contact was made with a large North Vietnamese force and a fierce firefight ensued.

"Pfc. Cysewski immediately moved on line with the other members of his unit and began assaulting the well entrenched insurgents. He was carrying a large supply of machine gun ammunition and when the machine gun in his squad ran low on rounds, he immediately started to bring resupplies to the crew. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Pfc. Cysewski openly exposed himself to the hail of hostile rounds as he moved toward the machine gunner.

"He was mortally wounded by enemy automatic weapons fire just before he reached the gun emplacement, but the rounds which he brought forward were instrumental in protecting the entire flank throughout the remainder of the conflict.

"The courageous initiative and unwavering dedication of Pfc. Cysewski were an inspiration to his comrades, who continued fighting vigorously. Pfc. Cysewski's outstanding display of aggressiveness, devotion to duty, and personal bravery is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, the 1st Infantry Division, and the U.S. Army."

Cysewski's survivors are: His parents; a sister, Mrs. Harry (Arlet) Davis, Gibbsboro, N.J.; nephews, Eric and Scott Davis, Gibbsboro, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Semling, Fountain City.

THE CITATION accompanying the Army Commendation Medal:

"Pfc. Cysewski distinguished himself by exceptionally meritorious service in support of allied counterinsurgency operations in the Republic of Vietnam.

"During the period Sept. 1, 1968 to Sept. 11, 1968 he astutely surmounted extremely adverse conditions to obtain consistently superior results. Through diligence and determination he invariably accomplished every task with dispatch and efficiency. His unrelenting loyalty, initiative and perseverance brought him wide acclaim and inspired others to strive for maximum achievement. Selflessly working long and arduous hours, he has contributed significantly to the success of the allied effort."

And a portion of the citation accompanying the Bronze Star Medal:

"Pfc. Cysewski distinguished himself by outstandingly meritorious service in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam.

"During the period August 1968 to September 1968 he consistently manifested exemplary professionalism and initiative in obtaining outstanding results. His rapid assessment and solution of numerous problems inherent in a counterinsurgency environment greatly enhanced the allied effectiveness against a determined and aggressive enemy."

OTHER MEDALS given to Mr. and Mrs. Cysewski were: Good Conduct, Vietnam Service, National Defense Service, and expert rifleman, automatic rifle, rifle and pistol medals.

Also present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Semling, Fountain City, Wis.; Dennis Koeha, Winona; Miss Kathy Miller, Champaign, Ill., a student at the College of Saint Teresa, and Mrs. Norman Sem-ling, Fountain City.

Cysewski's survivors are: His parents; a sister, Mrs. Harry (Arlet) Davis, Gibbsboro, N.J.; nephews, Eric and Scott Davis, Gibbsboro, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Semling, Fountain City.

Crippled Ship 'Riding Well In Mild Seas'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The crippled Peruvian freighter Yavari was riding well in mild seas 950 miles southwest of San Francisco Sunday night, the Coast Guard said, as efforts continued to save the drifting ship.

A Coast Guard party and the ship's 25-man crew and master were evacuated to the cutter Barataria Saturday when heavy winds were forecast.

Coast Guard inspectors and Yavari's skipper returned to the 455-foot ship when waves subsided Sunday, and an emergency hull patch was made in the flooded engine room. Holds No. 1 and 2 were still flooding, but gasoline-driven pumps were clearing out most of the water.

The ship is riding high, but listing to port about 10 degrees and down by the bow, said the Coast Guard. The ship radioed for help early Friday. Information so far indicated to authorities the damage resulted from shifting of its cargo of scrap metal.

The ship, owned by the Gold Shipping Co., Lima was headed for San Francisco. The owners have dispatched two tugboats to take charge of the freighter, but they aren't expected to reach it until the end of the week.

The weaver bird is part of the Pooecidae family of birds.

Social Security Looks For 200,000 People

Time is running out fast for about 200,000 of the nation's elderly people and the Social Security Administration has no way to get in touch with them.

Some of these people may be living in this area, Victor E. Bertel, district manager, said today.

They are people 65 and over who have never signed up with the Social Security Administration for either cash benefits or hospital insurance under Medicare, and who may lose their last chance to enroll in Medicare's doctor bill insurance if they wait until after March 31.

Bertel urged relatives and friends of these older people to remind them that for those born October 1, 1901 or earlier, this will be their last chance to get the protection that helps pay physicians' and surgeons' bills and other medical expenses. Those born after Oct. 1, 1901 will have to wait a year for another opportunity, if they don't enroll before the end of March.

Over 95 percent of the 19.7 million people 65 and over were enrolled in this program that supplements the basic hospital insurance under Medicare as the open enrollment period began on Jan. 1, according to Bertel.

Humphrey: We Must Rebuild Party in South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, whose liberal civil rights record helped lead to a Southern rejection of his presidential drive, says the national Democratic party in the south must be rebuilt on a racially integrated basis.

The former vice president said in an interview he is going to Mississippi next month to help further this goal and restore Democratic strength in the deep south where he carried only one state last year.

"We Democrats have no intention of sacrificing the South to the Republicans or to a third party," he said. But "our party rules require an integrated party and that is what we are going to build in the South as well as elsewhere."

Humphrey's trip to Mississippi, his first to the Deep South since losing the election to President Nixon, is the result of an invitation from the Mississippi Democratic party, an integrated group headed by Negro civil rights leader Dr. Aaron E. Henry.

The Mississippi Democratic party does not represent the state's regular Democratic party, which is all white and opposed Humphrey last year.

Although Humphrey said he is keenly interested in returning to public office he indicated the Mississippi trip wasn't to further his own political fortunes.

"I'm determined that the 1972 nominee shall not inherit a party as divided as that which nominated me," he said.

Humphrey also reported the Democratic party debt from last year's campaign already has been reduced from $6 million to about $4.5 million "and that's not too bad."

"We Democrats don't intend to be the paupers of politics," he said. "We are going to pay off our bills and raise money for congressional and Senate candidates in 1970."

Nebraska Girl Needs $5,000 To Live

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Janice Burton, a 19-year-old Lincoln high school senior, needs $5,000 to live.

Janice has been told she has less than four years to live unless specialized surgery is performed to correct a spinal disorder. She needs the $5,000 to enter the University of Minnesota Hospitals in Minneapolis.

Doctors say if Janice doesn't get the money and thus the surgery, she will die.

Janice's trouble was originally diagnosed as severe congenital scoliosis ten years ago, but family finances never permitted the girl to be treated.

Now, the scoliosis in her spine is bending the girl's body like a bow, and causing her chest cavity to place enormous pressure on her lungs and heart.

A Minneapolis physician—who has chosen to remain anonymous—has agreed to perform the operation without charge.

This, doctors say, would extend Janice's life expectancy indefinitely.

But the funds are needed—for the six month post-operative recovery period at the Minnesota hospitals—and without them Janice Burton will be dead.

Report 484 Families In State Earn Less Than $20 Monthly

ST. PAUL (AP) — A report by the Minnesota Welfare Department says that at least 484 state families have a net disposable income of less than $20 a month.

The welfare report was filed with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

None of the families was reported on regular public assistance.

Blue Earth Threatened By Flooding

BLUE EARTH, Minn. (AP)—Diking operations were scheduled to resume here early this morning to save a threatened radio station from the rising Blue Earth River.

Station KBEW is in the lowlands next to the river which oozed over its banks Sunday.

Workmen were forced to stop diking operations Sunday night about 9:30 when diking material became too wet to handle and the trucks and caterpillars being used were getting stuck in mud near the station.

The Blue Earth has been rising at a rate of two feet per day for the past four days and at 6 p.m. Sunday was within 10 feet of the record 1965 river level.

Blue Earth, in extreme south central Minnesota, is almost surrounded by forks of the river.

The Army Corps of Engineers said Sunday that a rapid rise in the river can be expected when ice goes out of the stream later this week.

The Corps is sending 5,000 sandbags to the radio station in the event that dikes cannot be shored up before the really high water runs by.

The dike currently under construction is 1,000 feet long and has heights of up to 10 feet high.

Man Accused Of 2 Slayings Gets Life Term

NICE, France (AP)—A man accused of slaying the former wife of a Minneapolis businessman and another woman was sentenced to life imprisonment here Saturday.

Jean-Barnard Rougetet, 20, a former mental patient who uses the name of Duez, was accused in the January, 1968, slayings of Mrs. Odette Lafont, 66, and her daughter, Mrs. Jacqueline Spillaert, 43.

Mrs. Spillaert was formerly the wife of Howard Boyers of Minneapolis and lived in Edina with Boyer and the couple's three children, Ronald, 21, Gerald, 16 and Patricia, 12, in 1958-59.

The prosecution charged that Duez went to the Lafont villa "to extort a large sum of money from Mrs. Spillaert and he didn't kill them until after they refused."

Duez had tried to blackmail the family previously, and police said it was after the previous attempt that he was sent to a mental hospital.

Duez admitted buying a .22-caliber pistol but testified he had thrown it into the ocean.

The women were killed by .22-caliber bullets.

Obeys Given $2,500 by National Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee demonstrated its interest in Wisconsin's 7th Congressional District special election April 1 with a $2,500 contribution Sunday to David Obeys.

The state assemblyman now has received $5,000 from the committee, more than the committee has invested in any other Wisconsin congressional election in recent years, officials said.

Obeys is the Democratic nominee opposing Republican state Sen. Walter J. Chilson for the congressional post vacated when Melvin R. Laird became secretary of defense. Laird had represented the district for the GOP since 1952.

Obeys received the check Sunday from House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., while about 70 members of the party watched the ceremony.

Sponsors of the reception said the day's campaign donations—besides the committee's contribution—came to more than $1,000.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson and Sen. William Proxmire, both Wisconsin Democrats, told the reception they rate the contest between Obeys and Chilson as a close one.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey campaigned in Wausau, Wis., for Obeys Friday, calling the 7th District campaign the first in a crucial political year for Democrats.

McCormack advised Obeys: "Campaign as a Democrat."

"How much insurance did he have?"

"Too bad about Brown," we say. Our first question is "Did he leave his family with sufficient Life insurance?" No doubt you are taking your own proper precautions—and will want to get all the details about the Metropolitan's Family Income Plan.

DEAR ABBY:

Don't Stand Still Over 'Pot', 'Acid'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but the seriousness of this problem has prompted me to do just that. So, if you're looking for a laugh today, better skip DEAR ABBY.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is a junior in high school, and he tells us that any kid in his school who wants "grass" (marijuana) or even "acid" (LSD) knows where he can get it.

He has told us that so far he has never tried any of this stuff, but most of his friends have. When we asked him for the names of some of the kids who have "tried it," so we can track down the people who are selling it, he refused, saying he didn't want to be a "link."

He also said that we adults are making too big a thing over pot and acid—that it isn't nearly as dangerous as we think it is.

What are the facts? What can we tell our son? What should we do?

CONCERNED PARENTS

DEAR CONCERNED PARENTS: Tell him that a high school student who experiments with any mind-altering weed—or drug—is taking his life in his hands.

Even in a time when moral absolutes are held to be old-fashioned, in this matter of "pot" or drugs for kicks, thrills, and new sensations, parents should not hesitate to say, "THIS IS WRONG!" Hospitals and mental health clinics everywhere are filled with the evidence. Amateur experimentation with the brain cells makes no more sense than amateur heart surgery.

When your son says marijuana, LSD, and other drugs are freely available around his high school he is undoubtedly telling the truth. When he says parents "make too big a thing out of it" he is parroting the sales pitch of the pushers.

The sad fact is that parents are desperately ill-equipped to cope with the pot and drug propaganda. For most of them it is something that is simply outside their experience. What are nice middle-aged people expected to know about something which in their childhood was confined to the lowest elements of society?

You are correct in seeking "the facts." But the facts are not easy to come by. Science is just now getting around to serious research on the subject, and for too many kids it is a mathematical certainty that the facts will come out too late.

About marijuana, this much is known: It is not physically addictive. The pot cult capitalizes on this. But all it means is that marijuana does not require constantly increasing dosages to produce its mind bending effects, and that a pot user deprived of the weed does not get physically ill from withdrawal pangs.

However, marijuana DOES tend to become psychologically addictive for some. The evidence suggests that this kind of addiction is to the constant user what alcohol addiction is to the alcoholic. It is something less than a true addiction, as is heroin, but it is something more than a "bad habit."

Marijuana now flooding the country is of varying degrees of potency, and (unlike the standardized toxic content of alcoholic products) the varying potency produces varying effects. It can cause anxiety, confusion, impaired judgment, panic, temporary psychosis, and a feeling of well being in the face of real danger. But the greatest threat of marijuana, and I cannot emphasize this too strongly, is that it PUTS CHILDREN IN TOUCH WITH THE DRUG TRADE, AND ANYONE WHO SELLS MARIJUANA TO CHILDREN WILL SELL THEM ANYTHING. AND THIS CAN BE THEIR INTRODUCTION TO HEAVIER STUFF, AND A PRELUDE TO A MENTAL BREAKDOWN, A SERIOUS ADDICTION, OR BOTH.

More recently, young addicts have taken alarmingly to yet another destroyer, Methedrine, known in the jargon as "speed," and taken either orally or by injection. "Speed" is a jolting stimulant which can almost literally burn out the nervous system and leave the victim a mental and physical wreck.

The chain starts with the marijuana contact and the propaganda about parents "making too big a thing of it." Parents CAN'T make too big a thing of it. Which brings us to Question No. 3: What should you do?

MAKE A BIG THING OF IT! Consult your family doctor on the available scientific information. Have him talk man-to-man with your son, as back-up for your own talks with the boy. By all means talk with the school principal. Find out his attitude and the attitude of his teachers. Whatever else you do, don't make the mistake of doing nothing. Crossed fingers and prayers don't work!

Yours, for a healthier America, ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Ace Telephone Revenues Rise, Report Shows

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special)—Total operating revenue for the past year of the Ace Telephone Association was $732,914, compared with $664,069 in 1967, according to the report of General Manager Robert W. Bunke at the annual meeting at the Houston High School Saturday.

Operating expenses totaled $594,745 for a margin of $138,169 in 1968 compared with $543,438 in expenses in 1967 and a margin of $120,630. Fixed charges included an REA loan payment of $57,421, bringing the net margin to $77,834 in 1968, compared with $63,062 in 1967.

Three directors were re-elected — Robert Gilbert, Canton; Lawrence Graf, Hokah; and Arthur D. Witt, Houston. Rep. L. L. Duxbury talked about the tax structure in the state.

Service plans were presented to Vernon Jacobson and Elmer Wright, Houston, 15 years; John F. Johnson, Waterville, Iowa, and Jerry Kelly, Houston, 10, and Dennis Anderson, Peterson, 5.

FFA TO MEET

DOVER-EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — The Dover-Eyota FFA will hold its annual Ag Stag in the school cafeteria today at 8 p.m. Roger Kingstrom, state Future Farmer of America secretary, will be the speaker. Awards will be presented FFA members for work during the year. A ham dinner is being served. Tickets are on sale by the FFA chapter members and will also be available at the door.

30 School Districts OK Rochester Merger

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Voters in 30 small grade school districts have approved consolidation with Rochester public schools.

In voting on the consolidation, the small districts favored the proposal by a margin of 11-1.

The merger scheduled for June 23 will result in a system with about 15,500 students, about 4,200 of them from rural grade school districts.

Goetz Heads State Workshop Group

U. S. Gov. James B. Goetz heads a delegation of 20 Minnesota legislators, six legislative staff personnel and four others to the Congressional Legislative Workshop in Washington, D.C., today through Wednesday.

U. S. Gov. Goetz said the eight Minnesota congressmen will "join us in Washington and the entire group will explore federal-state relationships, examine federal programs and find answers to many questions."

Goetz, Sens. Rosennefer and Harren and Rep. France will testify to the congressional subcommittee on executive and legislative reorganization. Rep. John Blatnik is chairman of the subcommittee.

Youths to Follow Voyageurs' Route

Three Winona youths will take a YMCA-sponsored trip this summer over a 600-mile route first explored by voyageurs in the 1780s.

The trip will begin on the eastern shore of Great Slave

Lake in Canada's Northwest Territories and will end 45 days later at a point about 600 miles northeast, on the same latitude as southern Greenland.

The Winona youths are Michael Streater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Streater, 275 Wilson St.; Tom Underdahl Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Underdahl, 661 Market St.; and Jack Walz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walz, 225 E. Broadway. The voyageur trip is a project of Camp Widiwagan, a wilderness canoe base for teenagers operated by the St. Paul YMCA. It is the camp's most advanced program and is for invited participants only.

Counselor for the trip will be Byron Sudeen, a University of Minnesota veterinary medicine student. Two boys from St. Paul also will make the journey. The group will use two canoes and carry 600 pounds of food in addition to equipment.

Prisoners Protest Food With Sit-in

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — About 160 prisoners at the state correctional center staged a two-hour sit-in Sunday in a prison dining hall. Prison officials said the men were protesting the quality of the food.

Officials said the protesters went back to their cells at about 6:45 p.m. when an agreement was reached to discuss prisoner grievances. The center contains about 325 inmates.

Movie at Lewiston

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — Lewiston Sportsmen's Club will sponsor a colored film, "North American Safaris," Saturday at 2 and 8:30 p.m. in the basement of the Prigge building. Proceeds will help finance summer park activities.

Jackson Co-op Elects, Adds 104 Members

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. — Members of the Jackson Electric Cooperative heard reports on the cooperative's operations during 1968 at the co-op's annual meeting here Thursday.

Manager Arthur Larson said consumption had doubled in 10 years and is likely to double again in the next 10 years.

Larson said a new substation will be built southwest of Humboldt this spring.

LARSON SAID that between May 1 and Sept. 30, 1968, the cooperative added 104 new members and that average yearly growth in the past had been about 50 members.

Named delegates to the June annual meeting of Dairyland were Fred Mosley and Newlan Johnson, Hixton, and Adolph Erickson and Felix DeGroot, Alma Center.

Selected as delegates to the annual meeting of Wisconsin Electric Cooperative this week were John Jergensen, Hixton; Joe Mayer, Humboldt; and Robert Norton and Douglas Hurlburt, Black River Falls.

The members also selected directors to serve on the boards of Dairyland and WEC. Selected to the WEC board was Mike Bowler, Black River Falls. Bowler is also president of Wisconsin Electric Cooperative. Named to the Dairyland board was Irvin Schnick, Hixton.

THE MEMBERS also ratified the election of three men to serve three-year terms on the cooperative's board of directors. The directors had been previously elected at district meetings. The directors are Archie Burnett, Hixton; Bernard Schefter, Humboldt; and Bowler.

Main speaker for the day was George Walter, professor at Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis. Howard Nestingen, public relations supervisor for Dairyland Power Cooperative, was also a guest speaker.

Jackson Electric serves 2,930 members in Jackson, Monroe, Eau Claire, Trempealeau, La Crosse and Clark counties.

Teresan Named To GOP Office

A College of Saint Teresa student, Miss Karen Willie, has been named one of four second vice chairmen of Minnesota College Republicans. She was elected Sunday at the group's state convention at Minneapolis.

A 20-year-old Albert Lea college student was elected chairman of the federation. He is David Allen, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Roger Allen. David is a political science major at Macalester College in St. Paul.

NAMED first vice chairman was Robert Aagre, 19, Binghamton, N.Y., a sophomore at St. Olaf College, Northfield. Named first vice chairwoman was Mary Dalden, 21, Albert Lea, a junior at the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul.

The college Republicans elected four second vice chairmen. They included Robert Erickson, 21, St. Paul; Miss Willie, 19, Randolph, Minn.; Terry Rumsam, 21, Osceola, Wis.; and Vicki Ingvalson, 20, St. Paul.

Miss Ingvalson and Rumsam are students at Hamline University, St. Paul, and Erickson is a junior at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter.

DELEGATES to the convention Sunday called for the unilateral withdrawal of American servicemen from Vietnam, beginning within two months.

Delegates from 25 colleges and universities within the state called for the withdrawal, which they urged be accomplished within a two and one-half year timetable.

The convention also urged the Nixon administration to contribute a "sizeable increase in American economic aid to the Republic of Vietnam" as a companion to the pullout.

San Francisco Court Staff Sets 'Quake' Party

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some doomsayers and prophets have predicted most of California will be destroyed in earthquakes next month, and in honor thereof the San Francisco Municipal Court staff is having a party.

The event scheduled April 13 features one of the world's cocktails, earthquake fizzes and catastrophe royals at 69 cents each.

The Mini Quartet, led by clerk Al McDonald, will sing "Nearer My God to Thee," as others hand out life preservers and black armbands.

Mile-Long Dike Started at Houston

HOUSTON, Minn. — Park Construction Co. men and equipment moved into Houston Sunday at 5 p.m. and began building a dike about a mile long from the Highway 76 bridge easterly to about the point where Highway 76 turns south toward Caledonia from U.S. 16, said Arlow Abraham, Houston County Civil Defense director.

The dike will vary from 11 feet down to 3 feet in height, depending on the terrain, Abraham said, and is being built along the village side of the Root River.

WORKMEN removed black dirt from the area where the dike will be built; it will be used as a top dressing on the slopes. This will provide a seed bed for the dike, which will be a permanent structure. The east and north part of Houston was flooded from the Root from the section below the bridge in 1955. This flooding was caused by an ice jam at the bridge.

During the same flood, the Root was so high and the ice jamming so bad that water flowed around the west end of the dike built by the Minnesota Highway Department after the 1952 flood. It was to protect the west and north part of the village.

This area also will be plugged, Abraham said. Water from both these directions flooded all of Houston in 1955 except the square center block on the south side of Main Street.

There occasionally is some flooding of lowland east of the point where the South Fork flows into the Root from the south about 1 1/2 miles east of town, but this doesn't come into the village.

THE VILLAGE secured right of way for the dike Saturday noon, Abraham said, and the contract with Park Construction, which also is building the dike at Peterson, was signed Saturday afternoon.

The fill is being secured from the hill back of the Houston County shop north of the Highway 76 bridge.

Abraham said the village has sandbags on hand, and will put them on top of the dikes if necessary. Also, polyethylene will be placed along the river side of the dike, secured with sandbags if the need arises. The men are working around the clock.

Candidate Says Tax Plan Not His

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP) — Walter J. Chilsen, the Republican nominee for Congress in a special 7th District election April 1, disassociated himself from Gov. Warren P. Knowles budget and tax-increase proposals Sunday.

The state senator said his Democratic opponent, Assemblyman David R. Obery, had used "distortion and deception" in linking him with the financial program Knowles has submitted to the state legislature.

"THE GOVERNOR'S tax proposal is not mine," Chilsen said during an interview.

Asked to comment on statements he made in January when Knowles handed legislators his budget proposals, Chilsen said: "I didn't mean it as an endorsement of the budget itself."

The Knowles administration has said there could be a $400 million difference between anticipated revenue and the $1.6 billion proposed budget for the 1969 - 71 fiscal biennium. Knowles is asking lawmakers to raise state income and sales taxes.

Chilsen said he has not endorsed the entire $1.6 billion budget proposal, nor the Republican governor's suggestion that income tax increases not be applied to personal income of more than $14,000 a year.

OBERY, in a weekend address to the Wisconsin Young Democrats convention in Green Bay, had accused Chilsen of supporting Knowles' tax policies, adding: "You can't support a bad tax policy and then go to Washington and support tax reform." Chilsen said Sunday he had referred to Knowles' tax outline as "realistic" only because it involved a wide distribution of modest increases rather than a single, large increase in a particular category.

Begin Work on Flood Control in New England

WALTHAM, Conn. (AP) — Army engineers began taking antiflood precautions over the weekend at several points in New England. An Army spokesman said heavy rain could cause quick trouble on the Connecticut and Merrimack rivers, in areas that received more than 40 inches of snow in February.

Work has begun clearing river beds, freeing ice jams and building temporary dikes and levees.

17 WHS Students Going to Europe

Seventeen Winona Senior High School students this summer will participate in a six-week European study tour during which they'll attend classes in Rome, Paris and London.

Charles D. Stephens, head of the English department at Senior High School, has been appointed by the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) to chaperone the group which will leave New York by jet airplane June 27 and return to the United States Aug. 6.

THEY'LL spend their first two weeks abroad in Rome, then travel by train and bus to Paris, passing on to Switzerland and France. In Paris they'll live at the Pavillon Libanais, a residence of the United States Embassy.

After 10 days in Paris the group will cross the English

Channel from Calais to Dover. The final phase of the course will last about a week and during this time the group will have an opportunity to participate in an overnight excursion to Stratford-on-Avon and the Shakespeare country.

THE American Institute for Foreign Study is an association of teachers and students with national headquarters in Greenwich, Conn. It was founded to meet a growing demand for serious programs combining study and travel in Europe.

Since the program was organized, more than 14,000 students and teachers from throughout the United States have studied in universities and schools in Europe. For college students the institute offers similar summer study tours as well as full-year academic programs abroad.

Collegians by The Thousands Invade Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Collegians by the thousands are flocking to Florida's East Coast beaches, preparing for their annual spring ritual of sex and fun — but minus the seaside suds of previous years.

Fort Lauderdale police, eyeing a college crowd estimated at 10,000 which is expected to triple before next weekend, said all was well Sunday.

"This is the best behaved, most respectful group in years," said the commander of a police substation set up at Fort Lauderdale's beach area.

Police estimates placed the number of young people at more than 40,000 at Daytona Beach, where new antidrinking laws appeared to have ended mass

Estimate Spending to Top $300 Billion

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal, state and local governmental spending will top the $300 billion mark in fiscal 1969, Tax Foundation, Inc., a nonpartisan research firm said Sunday.

An estimated figure of $310 billion for the period breaks down to $1,542 for every American, representing a 130 per cent increase over $155 billion spent in 1958, the foundation added.

beer-drinking on the beach. The law bans all alcoholic beverages from the beach area year-round.

But at Ormond Beach, a similar ordinance went into effect at midnight last Friday and expires three weeks from now.

But all is not dry. Pubs away from the beaches were still going at full speed.

Chilly temperatures fanned by gusty breezes kept the beach crowds smaller than usual during the weekend, but housing and entertainment facilities are strained.

Three File for Mayor's Post At Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — There will be three candidates for mayor on the ballot at Wabasha's election April 1.

Ray Young, incumbent, will be opposed by Ralph Lindgren, manager of Dill Elevator, and Harold Krenz, manager of the Penn Theater. Krenz was the first to file.

There are two candidates for 2nd Ward alderman: Gerald Greive, incumbent by appointment to fill a vacancy, and Loren Larson. Greive owns and operates Standard Oil here. Larson owns and operates the Coast-to-Coast Store and is president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The two candidates for 3rd Ward alderman are Eugene Carrels, incumbent, and Martin P. Wilson. Carrels is manager of the municipal harbor and Wilson, manager of Riverside Oil.

Unopposed in the election are George O'Brien, 1st Ward alderman; Charles Theismann, incumbent treasurer, and Charles Johnson, who filed for justice of the peace to succeed Henry Kronebusch, who died.

Letter Writing Clinic Planned

A clinic devoted to business letters is scheduled by the Winona Area Chamber of Commerce for April 28 at the Winona Senior High School course.

Conducted by W. H. Butterfield, a specialist in the subject, the clinic will demonstrate how to compose effective business letters that also build good will. The course runs from 7 to 10:30 p.m., according to Gene Meeker, chamber manager.

Registration forms for the clinic are being mailed to chamber members.

Spacious Ranch Emphasizes Practicality

By ANDY LANG

Everyone wants as much as he can get for his money, regardless of the size of his budget.

It is a curious fact, however, that those who purchase inexpensive and very expensive homes are less finicky about the practical aspects of house construction and design than those in what might be called the moderate luxury bracket. The latter are especially careful to avoid impractical luxuries, especially those that mean more upkeep than the family can handle.

This spacious ranch plan uses its living area to make every zone comfortable within such limits. There are no gimmicks here; no costly roof breaks to make the home seem more imposing. The use of interior space is practical, with enough flexibility to suit either a young family or parents when their children are on their way in the world.

The entry porch and long central foyer are the first assets to the formal living scheme of the house. Rail dividers between the living room and the dining room offer the option of combined space or two entirely separate rooms. Used in combination, the rooms have a vista of 29 feet. An even wider open view, in much the same kind of arrangement along the rear portion of the house, is provided by the family room and the kitchen, which together stretch 34 feet. A fireplace, flanked by a brick wall, is a focal point at one end of the family room. A snack bar is great for serving light meals to family and guests. On the rear wall, sliding glass doors show the outdoor area and make it readily accessible for good-weather use. Although there's no wall between the family room and kitchen, a sliding partition or louvered screen arrangement would set the two rooms off if desired.

To the right of the kitchen is a rear entry and vestibule, just as valuable a traffic regulator as its counterpart at the front. Beyond that, the laundry, mud room, lavatory and two closets offer a wealth of utility area that saves running down to the basement, although basement stairs

CONTEMPORARY RANCH, with simple lines and no pretentiousness, is long, low and clean-looking, with no far-out styling that might quickly outdate it. Vertical siding has been effectively combined with horizontal brick, enhanced by long planter in front of windows.

are conveniently located for access from the garage, utility section, kitchen and backyard.

The bedroom wing is to the right of the foyer. In it are three bedrooms, two baths and seven closets. The master bedroom is a sizable, almost square room, with three window areas, a private bathroom and two closets. Bedroom No. 2 has two exposures and a closet. Bedroom No. 3 could be utilized as a study or den. Also, because it is along the side of the house, a professional owner could use it as a home office by cutting a door in from the foyer side instead of the hall, thus having a private access. The main bathroom has an alcove tub, double vanity, towel closet and an anteroom with a large linen closet. A hall closet is for the use of guests, a factor in keeping the main foyer clear.

Architect Fenick A. Vogel has achieved a clean contemporary look on the exterior of Design Z-85 with horizontal brick and vertical siding. In the rendering, the artist has suggested a terrace and pool arrangement at the rear that might be added at the option of the owner to enhance the facilities, but even a simple lawn terrace would be a good addition.

One out of every five Americans changes his residence each year.

Z-85 Statistics

Design Z-85 is a contemporary ranch, with a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, foyer, three bedrooms and two baths, totaling 2,004 square feet. The utility area behind the garage has a laundry, mud room, two closets and a lavatory, adding 350 square feet. The two-car garage has an entrance at the side and another from the utility area. Overall dimensions are 83 ft. 4 in. by 34 ft. 6 in. The plans include a basement.

FLOOR PLANS: Formal and informal areas are clearly defined, with living room and dining room open to each other at the front of the house, and family room and kitchen at the rear. Bedroom wing is insulated from these areas by foyer, closets and bathrooms.

QUESTION: Why is it that every time I go to cut thin metal tubing with a hack saw, I wind up bending the metal or getting very ragged edges?

ANSWER: A thin metal tube should have a round wooden dowel inserted in it before cutting. Place in a vise and cut through the tubing and the wood. In much the same way, you can cut a thin sheet of metal. Place the piece of metal between two blocks of scrap wood, place in a vise and cut through both the metal and the wood.

QUESTION: We have been looking around to buy a house. We want a brick house, but are completely confused by such terms as brick veneer and double brick. Can you tell us something about brick houses?

ANSWER: Brick veneer walls usually have the bricks separated from the studs by an air space. When properly installed, a vapor insulation is placed between the bricks and the studs. Double brick walls, as the term implies, are two rows of bricks, one on the outside, one on the inside. In some installations, the two rows are bonded together with mortar. In others, there is a slight space between. In either case, there also is a

North Star Playoff Hope Ended by Pitt

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The Minnesota North Stars, eliminated from Stanley Cup playoff contention, have three more games to go through the motions before ending their disappointing 1968-69 National Hockey League season.

The North Stars, tabbed as a preseason West Division favorite, lost their fourth straight game Sunday, 5-0 to the Pittsburgh Penguins, and officially lost any chance of gaining the playoffs.

Minnesota is buried in fifth place with 50 points, eight behind the Flyers who held only a two-point edge over the North Stars just last Wednesday night.

The actual death blow came Saturday afternoon at the Metropolitan Sports Center when the Flyers fractured the North Stars 5-1. Philadelphia had beaten the Stars 5-2 Thursday night in Pittsburgh. The Rangers started the skid 4-2 Wednesday night.

The North Stars wind up their home schedule Tuesday night against the Penguins before leaving for the West Coast to finish Saturday against Oakland and Sunday against Los Angeles.

It took a little less than a period for the North Stars to fold at Pittsburgh Sunday night. Keith McCreary and Ken Schinkel each scored two goals for the Penguins while Joe Daley stopped 32 Minnesota shots.

Rookie Fern Rivard was the victim of the 33-shot Pittsburgh onslaught.

Philadelphia, clinching the fourth playoff spot in West Division Sunday night with a 4-3 victory over St. Louis, enjoyed a similar easy game against the North Stars Saturday.

The Flyers took a 2-1 lead in the first period as Andre Lacroix set up goals by Dick Cherry and Dick Sarrazin. Billy Collins scored Minnesota's only goal on a rebound shot.

"There's not much you can say, now," said General Manager Coach Wren Blair, "especially when you get beat 5-1 on your own ice. I guess we start using that old expression, 'Wait till next year.'"

Floyd Wins Jacksonville; Eyes Masters

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Golf's gold-prospecting gypsies moved today toward the $200,000 National Airlines Open at Miami—but most of them had their minds on another kind of green.

They are thinking about the traditional green coat of the Masters champion.

"I finished fifth last year at Augusta and I hope I can do better this time," said 210-pound Ray Floyd, after beating Gardner Dickinson in a sudden death playoff for $20,000 first prize Sunday in the $100,000 Jacksonville Open.

The tournament followed the season's pattern of a different champion every week. There now have been 12 tour tournaments and 12 different winners.

The word is that golf never again will be dominated by a single man, such as Ben Hogan and Sam Snead in their days. Byron Nelson and later Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper.

There are too many good players and they're all greedy and tough.

The Masters, April 10-13, traditionally has been an exception. Since 1958, Palmer has won it four times and Nicklaus three. Bob Goalby is defending champion.

Now Palmer has a bad hip. Nicklaus says he just hasn't got in the groove—"I hit the ball and come up dry," he explains. Casper admits he's trying to sneak up on the tournament—he has never won.

All played creditably in the tournament here this weekend, but at the tournament's end it was a duel between Ray Floyd, the 26-year-old, curly-haired bachelor, and the 30-year-old 41-year-old Dickinson. Playing in gusty winds over the 7,221-yard, par 72 Deerwood course, they finished in a tie at 278, 10 under par, and then Floyd clinched it by knocking in a birdie on the first extra hole, a dog-leg par 5. He put his third shot two feet from the pin.

Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open champion, and tied with South Africa's Gary Player, who had a final 71, and young Dewitt Weaver, who closed with a 72.

Johnson Swings Hot Bat for Phils

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Deron Johnson, who traveled downhill for the last three National League seasons, appears to be settling back into his old long-ball groove with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Johnson, who drove in 130 runs for Cincinnati in 1965 but delivered only 33 for Atlanta last year, continued to sparkle for Philadelphia in exhibition play Sunday, slugging a pair of two-run homers and a run-scoring double in a 5-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 29-year-old slugger, sold outright to the Phillies after batting .208, with eight home runs, for the Braves in 1968, has connected for three homers in the last three days. He homered against Detroit Friday and unloaded Sunday off the Dodgers' Claude Osteen in the fourth inning and John Purdin in the eighth.

Jerry Koosman, the New York Mets' sore-shoulder southpaw ace, hurled three scoreless innings in a 7-3 victory over Boston, but Red Sox right-hander Jim Lonborg worked only two full innings before his pitching shoulder tightened up.

Lonborg, who finished at 6-10 for the Red Sox last season after undergoing knee surgery following a winter skiing mishap, suffered a "slight strain at the base of the right shoulder blade," according to Boston trainer Buddy Leroux.

Detroit edged St. Louis 7-6, Dave Campbell scoring the winning run in the ninth on an obstruction play. The Tiger base runner, caught in a rundown between third and home, was waved in when Cards catcher

Jim Hutto interfered with him.

Washington spotted Houston a 6-0 lead, then struck for four runs in the seventh inning and six more in the eighth to down the Astros 10-6. Gary Holman drove in three Washington runs with a homer and single, keying the comeback. Frank Howard, who picked up his first hit of the spring, and Del Unser, delivered two more apiece.

Sal Bando, Danny Cater and Dick Green tagged left-hander Mike Paul for homers, powering Oakland to a 7-4 victory over Cleveland. The Indians' "B" team bowed to San Diego 17-10 in a 36-hit slugfest despite six Cleveland homers, two of them by Zoilo Versalles.

The Chicago White Sox capitalized on two errors by shortstop Jackie Hernandez for four unearned runs in the eighth and a 4-2 verdict over Kansas City. Dave May's two-run single in a three-run seventh swept Baltimore past Atlanta 4-3.

Lee May slugged a two-run homer and Alex Johnson and Johnny Bench each hit one with the bases empty, pacing Cincinnati to a 6-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

San Francisco pasted California 10-1, with Gaylord Perry scattering six hits through the first seven innings.

Two ninth inning errors by shortstop John Kennedy helped the Chicago Cubs score twice and shade Seattle 7-6 in the second game of a doubleheader after the Pilots took the opener 5-4 on Wayne Comer's triple and Larry Haney's infield out in the 11th.

Rochester Giddy Over Champs

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Traditionally sedate Rochester came out of the silent seclusion of its quiet zones Sunday to give Minnesota's new state basketball champions a rousing welcome home.

Some 6,000 goodwill-bearing partisans were on hand at Clinic City applauding Al Wold and his John Marshall Rockets, who overwhelmed Duluth Central 58-42 in the title finale.

A huge motorcade assembled at Pine Island to greet the Rockets and escort them 15 miles to John Marshall High School.

An exuberant crowd of fans from throughout Rochester and the area were on hand at the J-M gym, including city and school officials.

Bands and spokesmen from John Marshall, Mayo and Lourdes all took part in the truly ecumenical ceremonies that ensued.

"This is really something for a community to turn out like this," coach Wold enthused. "Athletic director Kerwin Englehardt told me to expect a big turnout . . . but this is fantastic." A crowd estimated at 6,000 fans lined the parade route and some 5,000 jammed the gymnasium.

Wold added, "Everything was perfect for us at the state . . . Our kids were down to business all the way. They conducted themselves like gentlemen. They felt to come back with anything less than first was not enough."

The Rockets' effort gave Rochester its first basketball championship since 1917. Carleton Kruse, a member of that title team, commented, "It's been a while. I wondered if I would live long enough to see another Rochester champion."

I don't know what Wold gives those kids at halftime but as soon as I get some I'll throw away my Geritol."

Rochester City Council spokesman Dutch DeVries read a very popular resolution which was officially seconded by a councilman and approved unanimously by the entire assembly.

Along with the customary accolades, the resolution declared this week "John Marshall Rocket Basketball Week" and recommended that a rocket be shot off every day at noon.

MARTIN TO MAKE CUT

Bucs End Twins' Skein

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Billy Martin was faced today with one of his first big decisions in his short tenure as manager of the Minnesota Twins.

Martin was expected to announce the cut of about seven players after an exhibition contest against the defending National League champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The personnel move is the biggest of the spring to date.

The Pittsburgh Pirates ended Minnesota's five-game winning streak against National Leaguers Sunday with a 5-4 victory.

The Bucs preserved the victory when second baseman Jose Martinez leaped to catch Graig Nettles' liner and caught Twins pinch runner Dick Woodson off the bag in the ninth inning for a double play.

Starting Twins pitcher Jim Roland, carrying the American League club's worst earned run average, gave up a three-run homer to Bob Robertson and a run-scoring double to Martinez as the Pirates took a 4-0 first inning lead.

Four other Twins pitchers—

Charley Walters, Bill Zepp, Bob Miller and Gale Kennedy—allowed only two hits and a run in 8 2-3 innings. Miller still has not been scored on in 11 innings, striking out five.

Tony Oliva drove home a first inning Minnesota run with a single but the Pirates increased their edge to 5-1 in third on a run-scoring single by Martinez. Martinez had three hits for the day.

Ted Uhlaender appeared to break out of a spring slump with a solo homer in the sixth inning and a double. The Twins got two more runs in the seventh inning on singles by Charlie Manuel and Eric Soderholm, an outfield error and Rich Reese's infield out.

Manuel, with two hits in two at-bats, raised his team leading spring average to .472. Harmon Killebrew contributed two singles.

The Twins stood at 9-5 for the exhibition schedule with 12 spring games to play after facing the Cardinals. They open the regular season at Kansas City April 8. The home opener is set April 18 against the California Angels.

Road Trips Haunt Cubs

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — "I've got some guys who can play now," says Leo Durocher. "They've got to look out."

Whether or not that statement by the Chicago Cubs' manager strikes terror into the hearts of the St. Louis Cardinals, there is something to what Durocher says. He has an experienced and talented line-up that should be in the thick of things in the National League's East Division.

For pitching, the Cubs start with Ferguson Jenkins, the only man in either league who is coming off two 20-victory seasons. The other starters are Bill Hands, 16-10 last year, Ken Holtzman, 11-14 despite missing a total of six weeks of the season to the Air National Guard, and Joe Nickro, 14-10.

Relief pitching is the Cubs' biggest improvement over 1968. The acquisition of Ted Abernathy, the No. 2 fireman in the league last year, from Cincinnati and Hank Aguirre from Los Angeles gives them a solid bullpen as Phil Regan was the top reliever in the league last year. Defensively, the Cubs' infield is the best in the league and it can hit, too. Ernie Banks, at first, hit 32 homers last year. Glenn Beckert at second hit .294 and was the hardest man to strike out in the league. Don Kessinger was the NL's All-Star shortstop and Ron Santo, a Golden Glove third baseman, hit 26 home runs.

Paducah JC Cops National Crown

In the outfield, Billy Williams is set at left and Adolfo Phillips at center if he recovers from a spring training leg injury. Right field is open with Jim Hickman, Al Spangler, Willie Smith and a couple of rookies all fighting for the job.

Randy Hundley, the workhorse of National League catchers who played in 160 games last year, is as good as gold at that spot.

But even with this impressive line-up, Durocher has his problems, not all of them concerning the Cardinals, who must be counted the favorites in the division.

For one thing, they have an almost pathological inability to win on the road. The Cubs were 47-34 in Wrigley Field last year, every bit as good as St. Louis was at home. But on the road, they were 37-44 and finished third, 13 games behind the Cards.

Then there is the home run problem. You wouldn't think that a club that has led the league in homers five years in a row would HAVE a problem, but the Cubs, you see, hit 83 homers at home and just 47 elsewhere.

Still, if everybody on the club plays the way he is capable of playing and if the Cards should stumble a bit, the Cubs could be in the thick of things. Which would not be bad for a club that finished last just three short years ago.

Canada Tops U.S. For Curling Title

PERTH, Scotland (AP) — Canada, sparked by strong plays from Calgary salesman Ron Northcott, defended the World Curling Championship Saturday with a 96-victory over the United States.

Northcott built up a strong 6-0 lead after three ends but Bud Somerville of Superior, Wis., brought the margin to 7-6 in the 10th end. Northcott blanked the 11th to retain last rock on the final end.

Northcott led the Canadians to the championship in 1966 and last year. Somerville led the United States to the world championship in 1965.

Lew Wouldn't Do It Again

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Would Lew Alcindor, who during his college career led UCLA to three national basketball titles and was himself a three-time All-American, change any of that?

"I don't think I'd go through it again," he said, grinning, but with a tone of conviction.

"It's very hard to study and play ball," said the 7-foot-1½ center who led the Bruins to an unprecedented third NCAA championship over Purdue 92-72 Saturday.

Asked if he didn't think his inevitable pro basketball career might, he even tougher, he quipped, "That's pretty tough but you don't have to go to class."

While a pro career is understood, Alcindor said making a choice between the American and National basketball associations is very much "up in the air," and "right now, I'm thinking about getting out of school in June."

His coach, John Wooden, said Alcindor has not sought his advice on a pro choice, and "I couldn't answer if he did."

"I think his biggest problem is going to be where he can set himself up for the future," Wooden said.

The Bruin coach was "very, very pleased" with Saturday's climax to the Alcindor era at UCLA.

He credited the defensive play of Kenny Heltz with holding Purdue All-American Rick Mount to 28 points, below his season average.

But he also praised Alcindor for his aggressive play which resulted in 37 points and 20 rebounds.

If UCLA needed anything more than an unprecedented fifth NCAA title in six years to make Saturday's victory sweet, it must have been a 20-point victory after Thursday's semifinals in which the Bruins squeezed by Drake 85-82.

While the Bruins were battling for tournament survival, Purdue easily walked over North Carolina 92-65.

But Saturday was a different story, and Purdue coach George King admitted—"It was pretty much in their (UCLA's) hands after the first eight or 10 minutes."

After a 6-6 tie, UCLA's Curtis Rowe hit on three free throws, Alcindor tapped one in and the Bruins were on top 11-6.

UCLA then outscored the Boilermakers 15-4 in the next seven minutes to take a commanding 26-10 lead.

Mount, who scored 36 points against North Carolina, hit his first two shots against UCLA, then went cold. He finished with 12 out of 36 field goal attempts.

"It may have been just the pressure of being in the finals," said King, whose Boilermakers were making their first appearance ever in a championship game.

Sturdy Ford Pulls Upset Sebring Win

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) Elimination of minimum weights for prototype sports cars in international racing this year has produced bodies super light and downright fragile.

They were so fragile that the rough Sebring course and a seemingly increased supply of those traffic cones that police everywhere use to mark lanes during rush hours combined to literally pound the exotic machines into submission.

In part, that is the story of the victory by Jackie Ickx of Belgium and Jack Oliver of England in the 12-hour Sebring Endurance Race Saturday.

The rest of the story is the charmed life of the Ford GT40 cars, which have been racing five years and are still gracing victory lanes more often than any other machine.

When the Ford drivers first pitted their sturdy machines against the brand new, featherweight Ferraris and Porsches as qualifying began Thursday, they found their best was five seconds a lap slower than Ferrari.

The difference was only a shade less against Porsche.

"Competition becomes quite difficult when you are that much slower," Ickx said, "even though the Ford is still quite a good car."

The five factory Porsches from Germany took a pounding from the rough concrete and asphalt course carved from an old World War II air base.

"I drove behind the Porsches through the 'esses' several times," said veteran Bob Grossman of West Nyack, N.Y. "They bounded from side to side every time and I wondered if their suspension was going to survive that pounding."

It didn't. Two Porsches went out of action and the others had long pit stops for repairs.

The Ferrari was a casualty of overheating in the final two hours, attributed at least partly to a collision with a traffic cone, which banged up the radiator at the rear of the little cars.

Whitworth Captures Charlotte by One

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. — Kathy Whitworth said "I didn't feel I won", but she posted a one-over-par 218 and accepted $2,250 first money in the Port Charlotte LPGA Invitational Golf Tournament Sunday.

Sandra Post wilted on the back nine Sunday to drop from her two-round lead into a second-place tie with Sandra Haynie at par 219 for $1,600.

Warriors Get Only 2 Points In NAIA Swim

DOWNS GROVE, Ill. — George Kazika and Roger Braaten found out even their best was not quite good enough over the weekend in the NAIA swimming championships at George Williams College, here.

Kazika, a junior All-American and Braaten, a freshman, were Winona State's only entries in the tournament and finished with a total of two points.

Kazika got those with an 11th place finish in the 1,650-yard freestyle.

"He finished 11th with a time of 18:21, which breaks the Winona State pool record by 13 seconds and is also better than the existing conference record—that's how tough the competition was," said coach John Martin today.

Braaten failed to qualify for the finals, despite turning in his best time ever in the 200-yard individual medley, a 2:12 clocking.

"It's hard to complain when your swimmers give you all they have. The competition was just too tough; it's improved tremendously over last season," said Martin.

Defending champion Eastern Michigan won the team title while MIAC champion Macalester came in fourth and NIC champ Bemidji ninth.

Will Wells, Duluth Be Back in '70?

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Duluth Central and Wells appear to have the best chance, on the basis of returning players, of coming back to the Minnesota High School Basketball Tournament again next year.

The two schools will be hit the least by graduation than the other six teams in the 1969 tournament, which concluded Saturday night with Rochester John Marshall beating Duluth 58-42 for the championship.

Rochester is a veteran club, losing seven seniors. The only returning starter will be 6-foot-3 Dave Hollander.

Wells, losing five seniors, returns three starters among its seven juniors—6-4 Steve Feist, 5-10 Steve Schultz and 5-10 Tom Wetzel. The Wildcats won the consolation title with a 75-72 victory over Ramsey. Feist scored 61 points, Schultz 57 in the three-day tournament.

Duluth's Trojans, who played in three straight tournaments, graduate six seniors and four starters. But the returning regular is 6-foot-8 center Bill Had-

Jensen Tops Tournament In Scoring

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Craig Jensen, a 6-foot-3 forward who sparked the Rochester John Marshall Rockets to the state championship, wound up as the highest scoring player in the 57th Minnesota High School Basketball Tournament.

The Rockets beat Duluth Central 58-42 Saturday night for the title, and Jensen poured in 25 points and finished with 62 points in three games of tournament play.

Rick Webb of Alexander Ramsey and Steve Feist of Wells each had 61 points in three games. Webb swished in 42 points in the consolation final Saturday against Wells, turning in the second highest individual scoring output in the tournament's history. The record of 48 points was set in 1956 by Ron Johnson of New Prague.

Tim Grice of Minneapolis South, eliminated after two losses had the tournament's best scoring average, 23.0. He scored 46 points in two games. Jensen was second with 20.7 while Webb and Feist tied for third at 20.3.

Beloit Still Limp Over Weaver's Shot

MADISON (AP)—"We were waiting for them to stop hitting," Beloit Coach Bernie Barkin said with envy after his team squeaked past Neenah 80-79 in two overtimes Saturday night to win the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association basketball title.

"They never quit," Barkin said of Neenah's Rockets. "We've just never run into a team like that."

Call it luck, call it heroics, or call it good strategy and a great shot. Beloit needed it and everything else the Purple Knights could muster to win.

"It was a 41-foot desperation toss by Lamont Weaver, who fired from the far side of midcourt with the Purple Knights down by two points. With the sound of the buzzer still echoing, the ball slipped through the cords and the game was tied, forcing overtime play.

"I haven't settled down yet," Barkin said Sunday when asked about Weaver's shot. "I felt like the man on a flying trapeze grasping for that ring."

"I didn't have time to think, only pray," Weaver said of the shot.

"I still can't believe it," Barkin added.

The shot was set up of necessity by persistently hot shooting on the part of Neenah's Rockets against the season-long, top-rated school in The Associated Press polls.

Tom Kopitzke and Tom Koepke peppered the nets from medium to long range, and Beloit trailed 35-20 at the half.

The efforts of Weaver and Bruce Brown led a Purple Knight rally that brought Beloit back to within two points setting the stage for Weaver's bomb. "Kopitzke doesn't know the meaning of the word 'miss,'" Barkin lamented after the game. "And that Koepke kept taking every advantage of every hole that popped up in our defense."

Neenah coach Ron Eimer-

son, having seen Weaver twice deprive his Rockets of seeming victory, tried to avoid appearing too gloom. "It's just one of those things," he said bravely.

He nodded appreciatively when a spectator, Gov. Warren P. Knowles, remarked: "It was just the fickle finger of fate."

Knicks Have To Settle for 3rd in NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Knicks had to be content today with third place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division after they were routed Sunday night by Los Angeles 128-111 despite the Lakers playing without injured Elgin Baylor.

The Knicks' defeat left second place in the hands of the Philadelphia 76ers, who were idle.

Boston Sets Eye Toward NHL Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's wait till next year for the Minnesota North Stars and wait till next week for the Boston Bruins as the National Hockey League's regular season draws to a close.

The North Stars were eliminated from any chance at West Division Stanley Cup playoff berth Sunday when they lost to Pittsburgh 5-0, while Philadelphia was nailing down a spot by beating St. Louis 4-3.

Boston's chances for finishing first in the East Division were jolted by the New York Rangers, who beat the Bruins 4-2. The loss left second-place Boston four points back of Montreal with each team having three games to play and the Bruins are beginning to think more in terms of the playoffs, which begin a week from Wednesday.

In Sunday's other games, Chicago tagged Toronto 4-1 and Oakland edged Los Angeles 5-4. In Saturday's action, Montreal defeated New York 3-1, Toronto took Detroit 3-1, Boston whipped Chicago 5-3, Philadelphia downed Minnesota 5-1, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 2-1 and Oakland shut out Los Angeles 4-0.

WSC Scores Only 5 Points In NIC Indoor

MANKATO, Minn. — Just as coach Bob Keister expected, Winona State's ill-prepared track team finished last in the first annual Northern Intercollegiate Conference indoor track meet in Highland Arena.

"Since we had no place to practice and Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead do, I wasn't surprised we came in last, although we should have tied Bemidji," said Keister today.

The Warriors wound up with five points, one less than the Beavers. A snafu in the mile relay cost the Warriors another point.

Favorite Mankato State won easily with 121 points. Moorhead was second with 56 and St. Cloud State third with 51. Michigan Tech and UM-Morris did not compete.

Winona State got three points from junior Pete Wade (third) in the 60-yard dash and two points from fourth-place the 440-yard relay team of Wade, Bob Membrisse, Russ Jacobson and Denny Murray.

Jerry Dirkes of St. Cloud was the only double winner with an outstanding 4:15.8 time in the mile and a 9:25.2 in the two-mile. Mankato State won nine of the 15 events.

Winona State's next action is April 12 in the Corn Palace Relays at Mitchell, S.D.

Harmon Makes Second All Tourney Team

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Bruce Brown, Beloit's top scorer in Saturday's state championship high school basketball game, shared top honors in The Associated Press all-tournament team chosen by sportswriters and sportscasters.

Brown, who contributed 26 points toward the title victory over Neenah, and Glendale's Steve Bazelon were unanimous choices in the voting, each getting 29 votes.

Others among the top five were Beloit's Lamont Weaver with 26 points, Milwaukee Lincoln's Ellis Turrentine with 27 and Kimberly's Jeff Wildenberg with 24.

The next five were Neenah's Tom Kopitzke with 21, teammate Pat Hawley with 13, Kimberly's Don Hagany with 9, Durand's Ken Harmon with 9 and Neenah's Tom Koepke with 8.

Brown topped all tournament scorers with 82 points while Bazelon finished with 78 and Turrentine 75.

Bazelon grabbed 52 rebounds in the three games and Brown 46.

North Dakota Woman Killed in Crash

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—A Stanton, N.D. woman was killed late Saturday in a car-truck collision.

The North Dakota Highway Patrol identified the victim as Charlene Leer, 34, Mrs. Leer was injured in a collision on state 7 two miles west of Hazen. She died at a hospital a short time later.

Hazen is about 50 miles northwest of Bismarck.

Two 600s Fired in Weekend City Pin

A pair of 600s highlighted action in local bowling leagues over the weekend.

Rich Stammann belted 602 for Niemeyer-Slabmann in the Westgate Guys and Dolls League. Rich Chuchna hit 221 for Chuchna-Hittner, Peg Jacobson laced 203-521 for The Big Oasis and Kosidowski-Evans ripped 789-2,290 in the same league.

Substitute Don Bratz hammered 202-601 for the Jet Set and Ann Lilla, also a sub, tumbled 200-466 for the same team, but Goody Guys took Hal-Rod Bonnie and Clyde team honors with 800-2,269.

The 280 credited to George Maul in the WSC Maintenance League last week was, in actuality, a 279. Maul still holds the second best single game in the city this season.

HAL-ROD — Suzanne Schreiber hit 185-494 and Lyle Jacobson 230-577 for individual honors in the Lamp Liters League. Jacobson-Hanson and INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indiana Pacers and Minnesota Pipers continued their recent American Basketball Association trends Sunday. But the Pipers would like to get out of the rut.

Indiana creamed the Pipers 132-113 and took its 11th straight victory while handing the Pipers their eighth straight defeat.

The Pacers increased their Eastern Division lead to 1½ games over Kentucky. Minnesota is 7½ games behind in fourth place.

The Pipers return to the Twin Cities to play their last home game Tuesday night against the New York Nets at the St. Paul Auditorium. The remaining four games are on the road before the playoffs begin next month.

The Pipers are assured of a playoff spot.

Coach Gus Young used only six players against the Pacers. Starters Charlie Williams and Tom Washington are out with injuries.

The Pacers carved out a 37-33 first period and coasted to the easy victory in their final home game before 8,963 persons. The Pacers drew an ABA record of 23,000 for the regular season.

Indiana's Roger Brown led all scorers with 35 points. Dan Anderson paced the Pipers with 30 points. Connie Hawkins added 20.

State Traffic Toll Reaches 94, 87 Under 1968

ST. PAUL (AP)—Minnesota's traffic toll climbed to 94 Sunday with the death of a city man in a suburban Little Canada accident. A year ago, 191 persons had died through March 24.

Killed was Victor H. Lampi, 25. The Ramsey County sheriff's office said Lampi's car ran off Interstate 694, rolled down an embankment and onto adjacent Northern Pacific railroad tracks where the car was hit by an oncoming train.

Body of Missing Trapper Found

WARBA, Minn. (AP)—The body of a 64-year-old trapper missing since March 10 was found Saturday near his home.

The Itasca County coroner said Oscar Anderson suffered a heart attack. His body was found three-quarters of a mile from his home at Warba.

Thilmany - Pozane split team highs with 796 and 2,211, respectively.

WESTGATE — Charles Diedrich's 219-542 and Jim Diedrich's 167 resulted in a 415 game for Diedrich and Diedrich in the Fathers and Sons League. Duff Gorte's 386 helped Grote and Grote to 1,102.

Jan Wiecezorek's 181-521 sparked Wiecezorek-Buchholz to 776-2,234 in the Jacks and Jills League. Roger Marsolek dumped 213 for Rowland-Marsolek and Bob Stachowitz 546 for Kessler-Stachowitz.

Stacy Castle's 187-435 led the Wild Ones to 780-2,198 in the Kings and Queens League. Art Hooper drilled 192-545 for The General Line.

Market Sinks As Trading Pace Slows

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to move lower early this afternoon. The trading pace slowed.

The Dow Jones industrial average, lower from the start, was off 2.48 points at 917.52 at noon. Declines led advances by about 20 issues.

Brokers said investors were acting cautiously, following the news that the Justice Department said it would file suit to force Ling-Temco-Vought, a conglomerate, to dispose of its interest in Jones & Laughlin Steel.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.2 at 333.6, with industrials off 1.6, rails off .9, and utilities off .4.

Ling-Temco-Vought and Jones & Laughlin both were delayed in opening on the New York Stock Exchange. Later, Ling-Temco-Vought opened on 7,500 shares at 65, off 1 1/4, and Jones & Laughlin opened on 20,000 shares at 30 3/4, off 3 3/4. Ling-Temco-Vought later was off 3 3/4 at 63.

Other conglomerates generally were lower. Loew's Theatres dipped 2 1/2 to 42. AMK Corp. lost 1 1/4, and White Consolidated Industries was off 1. Gulf & Western Industries and National General dipped fractions.

Other steels generally were higher, with Bethlehem and U.S. Steel making fractional gains.

Motors, aircrafts and electronics issues were mixed. Pennzoil United $1.33 preferred, the most-active issue, was off 4 1/4 at 61. Second most-active-Ryan Selection Trust was up 1/4 at 13 1/2. Atlantic Richfield and GAC Corp. each was up 1/4.

Fractional losses were shown by Allied Chemical, Benguet, and American Telephone & Telegraph.

Eleven of the 20 most-active stocks on the American Stock Exchange were higher, 8 were lower, and 1 was unchanged.
